

Truman Says Russia Preaches Peace But Prepares For War

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—President Truman bitterly accused Soviet Russia today of preaching peace while "fomenting aggression and preparing for war."

Using language like a prosecuting attorney, he declared Russia's leaders, "with a cynical disregard for the hopes of mankind," have been "an obstacle to peace."

At the same time, he declared that Russia's threat of a third world war is being "offset by the growing strength of the free world" and that the United States is enlisted "for the duration" in the struggle to preserve peace.

Bristles With Charges

The President chose the site for a Jefferson memorial on the Mississippi River front as the setting for this country's most vigorous answer to the Russian peace propaganda offensive.

His prepared speech fairly bristled with charges against Russia. He indicted the Soviet Union for:

1. "Maintaining the largest peacetime armed force in history, far greater than it needs for the defense of its own boundaries."

2. Seeking to extend the boundaries of their totalitarian control "by means of infiltration, subversion, propaganda and indirect aggression."

3. Talking Democracy but setting up "dictatorships."

4. Proclaiming National independence but imposing "National slavery."

Rent Controls Bill Up Monday

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A weary Senate agreed early today to a test vote Monday on rent controls, after Senator Cain (R-Wash.) had pushed the chamber to a marathon session with a filibuster lasting 12 hours.

The agreement which brought adjournment at 2:40 a. m. (EST) was for a vote at 11 a. m. Monday on a motion by Republican leader Wherry of Nebraska to send the bill back to the banking committee—a move which, if successful, almost certainly would kill the measure.

When the lawmakers finally closed up shop, they had been at work for 16 hours and 40 minutes—one of the longest sessions in recent years.

The decision to use Wherry's motion for the bill's first test represented something of a setback for Democratic leader Lucas of Illinois. He had kept the Senate in continuous session in the hope of getting an agreement to vote on the bill itself.

However, Democratic leaders said later they felt they had enough votes to beat back the Wherry move in time to get a final vote on passage of the bill Monday.

Pedestrians Spurn Shower Of Quarters From Happy Husband

HAZLETON, Pa.—(AP)—Quarters—$20 worth—showered out of a fourth-floor hotel room last night but passing pedestrians would have no part of the money manna.

They picked the coins up and took them to a police officer.

The policeman went to the hotel room, money in hand, and there he found a happy man.

The man of good spirits said he was Charles E. Watson, a metal molding manufacturer from Flint, Mich., and formerly of Mt. Carmel, Pa.

He was tossing quarters out of the window, he explained, because it was his wedding anniversary and he felt like celebrating.

East Germany Gets Bargain In U. S. Spuds

Soviets Spread More Bug Propaganda

FRANKFURT, Germany—(AP)—East Germany was caught holding the bag today—and the bag was filled with American potatoes.

Two weeks ago East German Communist authorities loudly complained that the United States was scattering potato bugs from airplanes to destroy the East German potato crop. American officials just shook their heads in amazement.

Secret Deal Made

Today it came out that East Germany has concluded a secret deal for the purchase of 50,000 tons of surplus American potatoes for $10,000. That's a good price: A penny a hundred weight. Housewives in New York pay between five and six cents a pound.

This seemed to back up an American theory propounded after the potato bug story started—that East Germany is facing a severe crop shortage in what once was Germany's farm country and is trying to cover up.

Hamburg port officials said two ships, the Kastor of Greek registry and the Farnwood of Norwegian registry, unloaded 13,500 tons of potatoes in the first shipment. All of these have been sent east. Other consignments also have been received until now some 40,000 tons have been shipped to the Soviet zone.

New Motive Found

American officials said the deal apparently was a private one between American brokers in the United States and dealers in the Russian zone, with the latter guaranteeing transportation costs.

In Moscow, the Communist party newspaper, Pravda, published a new motive today for the alleged U. S. potato bug warfare. The paper said the bugs were dropped not only to ruin the potato crop but to boost sales of a new insecticide, owned by an American firm.

Flying Fishermen Killed In Fog Crash At Cut River

Airplanes Hunt Uranium Ore In Upper Peninsula

MARQUETTE, Mich.—(AP)—Planes equipped with Geiger counters are searching for uranium in an Upper Michigan area where two deposits were found in the last year.

Seven representatives of the U. S. Geological service, a pilot, co-pilot and five technicians, are conducting the aerial reconnaissance tours under the direction of Geophysicist J. R. Balsey.

Their DC-3 plane, carrying highly sensitive Geiger counters with powerful tubes 40 inches long, flies over an area extending from Huron River Point, near the Baraga-Marquette county line, to Marquette and south to Dickinson county.

The western boundary is just west of the Huron Mountains. The crew is stationed at Houghton during the operation.

Findings are charted on radioactive contour maps and will be studied in detail by the Geological Survey Office in Washington, which also will announce results of the search at a later date.

The survey is one of several being conducted by the government agency in areas covered by glacial deposits.

Brave Formosa Defies Invaders

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa—(AP)—China's Nationalists, still talking brave, today dared the Chinese Reds to throw their new air force at Formosa.

Gen. Wang Shu-ming, better known as "Tiger" Wang, said Nationalist fliers can handle the Reds "even if Soviet-manned jets are used."

The deputy commander in chief of the Nationalist air force said his experts have found "technical means" to destroy jets.

"We haven't been sitting at our desks doing nothing," was Wang's only explanation.

He said the Nationalists were itching to prove their air superiority.

They may get their wish soon. Mainland reports tell of a huge invasion force massing opposite Formosa. The strike is expected next month.

Far to the south, a correspondent with the Nationalist Navy predicted the Reds might soon withdraw from the portion of the Wanshan Islands they hold southwest of Hong Kong.

A Nationalist blockade has cut food and ammunition supplies, the correspondent said. The coming typhoon season, he added, will make supply problems even more difficult.

Blaze Lays Waste To Fishing Resort Village In Denmark

COPENHAGEN, Denmark—(AP)—A gale-whipped blaze laid waste to the center of the fishing resort of Hundested today and caused damage estimated at $175,000.

The fire which broke out at 10 p. m., yesterday in a waterfront shed, soon spread to a village inn and several houses.

Firefighters from all over northern Zealand were called to the town, which has a population of 4,000.

The airline will use eight DC-4 type Clippers daily, flying non-stop from San Juan to Saginaw, Mich., with 50 or more migratory farm workers in each plane.

A cargo Clipper left last night for Saginaw with ramp equipment and mechanics to service aircraft.

Use of the commercial airline was precipitated by the crash landing in the Atlantic June 5 of a non-scheduled plane. Twenty-eight of the 62 Puerto Ricans aboard the plane were lost. Thirty-seven were saved, including the three crewmen.

The contest is part of the 12th annual convention of the SPEBSQSA. Earlier yesterday 15 quartets were picked from 40 who came here after winning regional contests.

OMAHA—(AP)—Five quartets—three of them from Michigan—will compete tonight for the championship of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America.

Finalists chosen last night were the Antlers of Flint, Mich.; Buffalo Bills of Buffalo, N. Y.; Four Chords of London, Ont.; and Bleeders and Cleft Dwellers, both of Royal Oak, Mich.

The strategic locks' first line of defense, the 1437th Treadway Bridge Co. of the Michigan National Guard, fought off the first assault.

PENINSULA FISHING TRIP ENDS IN TRAGEDY—Shown above is the wreckage of a plane which crashed near Cut River Friday evening, bringing death to two Lansing area men enroute to a fishing spot in the Upper Peninsula. The photo was taken a few minutes after the tragedy near the intersection of US-2 and M-117. Bodies in the wreckage were identified as those of Paul Brozani, 31, and Leon E. Price, 38, both living near Lansing. (William T. Lawrence Photo)

Plane Plunge Near Highway Fatal To Two

Craft Demolished As Wing Strikes Trees

ST. IGNACE—Two downstate men bound for a Northern Michigan fishing trip died last night in a plane crash about 30 miles west of St. Ignace.

The dead are Paul Brozani, 31, Lansing Rt. 1, and Leon E. Price, 38, Eagle Rt. 1.

State police said the two men were killed instantly about 5:30 o'clock when Brozani, pilot of the two-seater, apparently tried to land in a fog and crashed near the intersection of Highways US-2 and M-117.

Plane Demolished

The plane, property of the Grand Lodge Flying club, was demolished.

Bodies of the two men were jammed into the cockpit of the plane, with an outboard motor and fishing tackle scattered around them.

Shortly before the fatal crash the plane was seen circling Highway US-2 at Cut River bridge by William T. Lawrence of LaBranche and his brother-in-law, Paul R. Thibault, of Nahma.

Circled Highway

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, their infant son, and Thibault had halted at Cut River bridge while driving to Delta county from Ann Arbor, where Lawrence is a student at University of Michigan.

They saw the plane fly out of a fog bank, pull up sharply, clearing the trees by about 50 feet, and then go westward. A short time later it returned, still flying low, and then disappeared again to the west.

The Lawrences resumed their trip and learned the plane had crashed while attempting a landing on M-117 a short distance north of the intersection with US-2.

Wing Hit Tree

The plane apparently caught one wing on the trees along the roadside as it came down in trying for a landing on the highway in the fog. Tops of the trees were sheared off. The plane was demolished when the tail flipped over, leaving the craft in wreckage near the highway.

Mrs. Lawrence, a nurse, could find no pulse beat in either of the broken bodies of the men in the plane.

Lawrence reported the fog was heavy, with visibility limited to 200 or 300 feet. He took pictures of the accident scene, one of which is presented in today's Escanaba Daily Press.

Remington Indicted; Quits $10,000 Job To Fight Off Red Label

By CHARLES MOLONY

WASHINGTON—(AP)—William W. Remington will quit his $10,000-a-year commerce department job Monday so he can devote his time to trying to prove that "I have never been a member of the Communist party."

The 32-year-old wartime Naval intelligence lieutenant is to appear in federal court in New York Tuesday to answer an indictment charging he lied when he said he had never been a Communist. It is expected to be months before his trial actually starts.

Refusal Reconsidered

The department economist notified Secretary of Commerce Sawyer by letter yesterday he had reconsidered an earlier refusal to resign at Sawyer's request, and would quit "at the close of business Monday."

Remington, associates said, plans to make Ridgewood, N. J., the home of his parents, the residential base for his efforts to get together proof of his innocence.

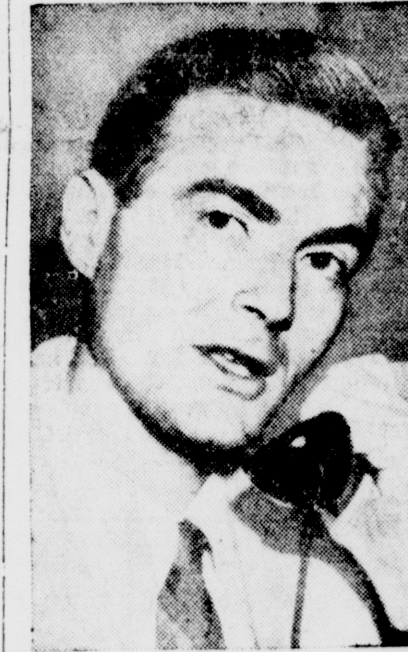

His 1,200-word letter to Sawyer related that he had "not remained with the commerce department from personal preference."

He said that after the president's top loyalty review board cleared him in February, 1949, after testimony against him by Elizabeth Bentley, self-styled former Communist courier, he felt "under obligation x x x to remain, at least for a time."

Publicity Spoils Chances

"Later, when I sought other employment, outside the government," he said, "I found that the publicity surrounding my case had spoiled my chances."

Strike Cuts Off Milk Supply In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Hospitals, orphanages and homes for the aged are about the only places where milk is being delivered today in Pittsburgh and nearby communities.

A strike of 3,250 milk and dairy workers has cut off other deliveries to some 2,500,000 western Pennsylvanians.

After the walk-out at midnight Thursday the Allegheny county medical association made a special arrangement with the striking AFL milk and ice cream driver salesmen and dairy employees, local 205, to provide milk on an emergency basis for babies' formulas, invalids and others.

Main issues in the strike are wages, commissions and vacation improvement, an industry spokesman said.

Bolt Kills Horses

MONROE—(AP)—A lightning bolt killed three horses on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Knapp in Monroe county last night. The horses had taken shelter from the storm under a tree.

Belle Isle Patches Up Storm Damage

DETROIT—(AP)—Storm-ravaged Belle Isle, recreational area in the Detroit river, was closed to the public today while city crews tried to repair the damage.

High winds yesterday tore giant trees out by the roots, hurled small boats as much as 75 yards and generally turned the island into shambles.

Picknickers ran for shelter when the storm came up suddenly, but no injuries were reported.

Soo Locks Repulse Mock Attack

SAULT STE. MAIRE, Mich.—(AP)—Trained teams of "enemy" saboteurs struck in mock warfare at the Soo Locks before dawn today but were repulsed by an alert defense.

While explosions of blank cartridges shattered the pre-dawn quiet, the Fifth Army announced that the "situation is in hand."

The enemy struck at 5 a. m. His ranks were composed of nine teams of "aggressor" troops trained in sabotage at Fort Riley, Kans., numbering in all about 45 men.

The strategic locks' first line of defense, the 1437th Treadway Bridge Co. of the Michigan National Guard, fought off the first assault.

But more were expected to follow, and the Fifth Army alerted troops at Fort Sheridan, Ill., and Fort Custer, Mich., for quick movement to the defense.

The exercise, which the Army said was to train troops in defense of the locks, had been expected to start any time during the month of June. The exact date and hour of the attack was supposed to be a tactical secret, however.

At 3 a. m. in the first word that action was impending. One hour later civilian guards at the locks reported seeing unauthorized strangers in the area. At 5:04 a. m. the first gunfire was heard.

Joining the National Guard standing nearby killed or injured.

were Coast Guardsmen from the Sault Ste. Marie area and the civilian guards. By dawn the defenders numbered about 125 men.

First "casualty" of the defenders was the defense co-ordinator, Col. Parker O. Stuart, Army engineer officer in charge of construction at the locks. He was the victim of carelessness by National Guard soldiers, umpires said.

When one "aggressor" prisoner was captured and brought to headquarters for questioning, his captors failed to search him. Thus he sneaked two pounds of nitroglycerine into the headquarters and theoretically blew things up.

Col. Stuart was "killed," the umpires insisted, and several others standing nearby killed or injured.

Car Tips Over But Couple Is Unhurt

State police of the Gladstone post said the car was damaged but the Beauchamps were able to continue on their way to Detroit by driving slowly.

Life Publicizes Walleye Fishing

Bay Called One Of 9 Best Fishing Spots

Escanaba and Little Bay de Noquet got a valuable nationwide publicity "plus" this week.

The picture shows three rowboats anchored among the reeds of the bay and carries this caption:

"Close in to shore among these reeds of Michigan's Little Bay de Noquet, walleyed pike come by the thousands to spawn in April and May. Fishermen fly in from as far away as Texas to catch them. Not really a pike but of a family all its own, the walleye also is known as jack salmon and dore. A bottom feeder, he is caught on plugs and junebug spinners when the muskies and bass refuse to hit. What he lacks in fight, the walleye more than makes up in taste when fried in butter."

The color picture was taken by Andreas Feininger.

Other areas pictured at the Klamath river in California for steelhead trout; Maine's Moosehead lake for landlocked salmon; the Ausale river in New York for Brown trout; the Jacks Fork river in Missouri for smallmouth bass; Apostle islands area in Lake Superior for lake trout; Oklawaha river in Florida for largemouth bass; Frank lake in Wisconsin for muskies and Lake Pend Oreille in Idaho for kamloops trout.

Johnson Given Probation Term

Was Not Intoxicated, Court Informed

J. Roy Johnson of 805 South 14th street on his plea of guilty to a charge of negligent homicide today in circuit court was sentenced by Judge Glenn W. Jackson to a two-year probation term.

Johnson was driver of a car that collided with an automobile at the west end of Memory Lane on US-2-41 late in 1948.

Gordon Rouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rouse of Pine Ridge, was killed, and three other young people were injured in the accident.

Before passing sentence, Judge Jackson said that he had received reports from the prosecuting attorney, the probation officer, and officers showing that Johnson had never previously been arrested for a violation of the criminal law; that he is working to support his wife and family, including a widowed mother; and that he was not intoxicated at the time of the accident.

The judge mentioned intoxication specifically, he said, because of "numerous rumors current in Escanaba that Mr. Johnson was hopelessly drunk." Investigation disclosed, said the court, that Johnson was not intoxicated although he had some beer throughout the afternoon and evening.

If the court considered that Johnson was driving while intoxicated he would be sent to prison, Judge Jackson said.

He pointed out that the case had been continued several times at the request of counsel for those injured in the accident, who obtained judgments in full settlement following civil suits.

Terms of the probation include the payment of $18 for ambulance service, only unpaid claim following the accident.

Give Two Weeks To File Answer

Judge Glenn W. Jackson in a special session of Delta county circuit court today continued until 10 a. m. Saturday, June 24, a hearing on a motion for discovery in a suit for an accounting by John P. Norton of Escanaba against Frank and George Lindenthal of Escanaba.

Norton, owner and publisher of the Escanaba Daily Press, and president of the Delta Broadcasting company, seeks to obtain a circuit court order to compel the Lindenthals brothers to account for their official conduct of the Broadcasting company.

Frank Lindenthal is secretary-treasurer of the Delta Broadcasting company and George Lindenthal is general manager of the corporation that operates radio station WDBC.

George Lindenthal III

The motion for discovery, on which hearing was today continued by the court for two weeks, is an effort by Norton to obtain additional information from the Lindenthals so that plaintiff's counsel can properly plead and file a bill of complaint.

The court has already issued an order restraining the Lindenthals from the sale or transfer of stock or property of the Delta Broadcasting company while the suit is pending, or until further order of the court.

Counsel for the Lindenthals in court today said that an answer to the plaintiff's motion for a discovery hearing has not been filed because of the illness of George Lindenthal, who is receiving treatment for ulcers in St. Francis hospital. He entered the hospital yesterday.

The physician treating George Lindenthal was summoned by the defendants' counsel and testified that his patient may require surgery at Rochester, Minn., and will need a month or six weeks to recover before returning to activity in his business.

Many Delays
Counsel for the Lindenthals said the illness of George Lindenthal made it impossible for him to receive verification of his answer from his clients.
Counsel for Mr. Norton expressed sympathy for the illness of George Lindenthal, but questioned whether the order for discovery could not be issued now to apply to Frank Lindenthal. There have already been many delays in the case, counsel pointed out.

After hearing the statements of counsel for both parties, Judge Jackson said he felt at this time that the plaintiff has a right to obtain the information sought from the defendants, but because no answer is on file to show the extent of the discovery, he would accede to the defendants' request for continuance.

If the illness of George Lindenthal is prolonged, Judge Jackson, said, he felt that Frank Lindenthal should be compelled to give the information in his possession.
"I am not going to allow this matter to drag on indefinitely," Judge Jackson said.

Editorials—

Monday Is School Election Day; It Is Important That You Vote

MONDAY is the annual school election day in Escanaba. It provides a test of the degree to which Escanaba voters cherish the right of the election franchise.

In so many school elections of the past, with the exception of last year, the number of voters who went to the polls to cast their ballots was extremely small. Generally they could be counted in dozens rather than hundreds or thousands.

Stimulated by an interesting contest last year and by a liberalization of the school registration law, local residents turned out in considerable numbers to vote in the school election.

This year only one trustee will be elected, but there are three candidates for the position so the voters are again provided with a contest that should stimulate interest in the election.

It should not be necessary to plead with the voters to turn out for a school election, or, for that matter, for any election in the community.

The privilege of the voting franchise is such a valuable one in our democracy that it should never be defaulted. Because the schools are perhaps the most important phase of our governmental program and the foundation of our American way of life, it is particularly important that the voters should show more than the usual interest in school elections.

Plan to vote Monday. Remember that if you reside in the First, Second, Third or Eighth city precinct, you will vote in the first school district at the City Hall. If you reside in the Fourth, Fifth or Sixth city precinct, you will vote in the second school district precinct at the Jefferson school. And if you reside in the Seventh city precinct, embracing all of the territory within the city north of the railroad tracks, you will vote in the third school district precinct at the North Escanaba fire station.

If you are registered as a qualified voter in the city, you are eligible to vote in the school election, even though you may not have registered separately in the school registration.

Walleye Capital Of U. S. But For How Long?

THE current issue of Life magazine, dated June 12, has added new luster to Delta county's national reputation for good walleye fishing by selecting Little Bay de Noc as one of the nine best fishing locations in America.

The reams of national publicity directed to the fine walleye fishing of Little and Big Bay de Noc has naturally caused us to feel mighty proud. Also it has done us no harm in our endeavors to attract more tourists to our area and swell the volume of tourist dollars dropped by our summer visitors in our community and in nearby communities.

We do have wonderful walleye fishing although, frankly, not because of any of our own efforts. The walleyes have simply selected our waters as a good place to live. While we can take no credit for bringing the walleyed pike to our boys, we can do something about keeping them here in sufficient numbers so that we can maintain our reputation for good fishing. We can ask for reasonable protection against plundering this valuable natural resource through excessive netting by an army of commercial fishermen who have come from many other ports to share in this bonanza.

Unless some legislative controls are established, the reputation we have gained and the fame that has spread all over the country may be short-lived. We may wake up one day to learn that we have been like the story-book character who killed the goose that laid the golden eggs.

Logic would indicate that if our reputation as the walleye fishing capital of America is worth retaining, it is also worth fighting for.

Other Editorial Comments

WHAT WOMEN CAN DO (Christian Science Monitor)

If you want to see an inspiring cross section of progress at the grass roots of America, look at the reports of the General Federation of Women's Clubs' build-a-better-community contest. One of the judges commented that the record of community achievement these reports afford should go to the Library of Congress.

There could be no finer example of citizen cooperation for the common good than these projects show. Even if no prize had been offered, every community would still have realized its most needed improvements. And even if the goal of improvements had not been achieved, the experience of putting forth united community effort for a good purpose would have been an accomplishment in itself and would have brought its own reward.

But thanks to the Kroger company of Cincinnati, the winners have $60,000 in prizes, and thanks to the quality of effort put forth, the communities which participated—whether or not they won—all have big gains to show for their participation.

The general Federation of Women's Clubs is to be congratulated for its foresight and good judgment in sponsoring this constructive do-it-yourself project in a day when people need to be reminded that individual initiative built the United States and must continue to keep it strong.

A couple in a southern poorhouse eloped. Maybe there is something to living on love.

Let's Not Stop Building Now

IT is good news that the U. S. has launched its first postwar passenger liner.

When the American Export Lines' S. S. Independence went down the ways at Quincy, Mass., it ended 11 years of inactivity in the building of luxury vessels.

This September the Independence's sister ship, the Constitution, will be launched. Four other liners, including a $70,000,000 giant to compete with Britain's Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth, are under construction.

Unfortunately no additional vessels are planned as a follow-up to this hopeful revival in U. S. passenger shipbuilding. America has considerably less capacity than before the war for carrying troops overseas in event of war. Security demands that we go farther in expanding our own passenger fleet.

Revision Of Social Security Law Desired

IT'S pretty widely accepted in Washington that broadened social security will be one of the chief accomplishments of the current session of Congress. The Senate Finance committee's approval of higher, more extensive old-age benefits increases that likelihood. The House already has passed a bill for that purpose.

The Senate committee version would raise payments about 90 per cent, while the House measure lifts them an average of 70 per cent. The Senate proposal also would delay longer the increase in payroll taxes deemed necessary to cover the heavier burden. But after 1959 the schedule of tax boosts would be the same in both bills.

The payroll tax would be levied on the first $3,000 of an individual's income under the Senate plan. That's the present law. But the House would impose the tax on the first $3,000.

There's a minor aspect of this payroll tax business that deserves attention and does not seem to be getting it.

Suppose you start out the year working for one employer but switch to another before you've paid your social security tax of 1½ per cent on the full $3,000 required. Maybe, for example, you've earned $2,800 when you take a new job.

Does the second employer thereafter take out your social security tax only on the remaining $200 needed to make up the $3,000 total? He does not. Under the law, he must take the tax out on the first $3,000 you earn from him.

In the end, you wind up paying the tax on $5,800 that year. But the law leaves you a remedy. You can fill out two forms, send them off to the Internal Revenue Bureau and claim a refund on the tax paid on the extra $2,800. In time, you presumably get your money back.

Inasmuch as Americans are a highly mobile people who do a lot of moving from job to job, this situation must be very common. The Revenue Bureau must process a tremendous flow of claims based on social security over-payments.

You can well imagine the paper work involved in checking the records, evaluating the claims, preparing the refund checks, and so on. Was there ever a better example of wasteful effort in government? Is there no one in the Revenue Bureau who can add $2,800 and $200 to get $3,000?

When Congress puts the new social security measure into final shape, what about incorporating a little refinement which states simply that the "first $3,000 of yearly income" means just that—and not the first $3,000 from every employer a man may work for in a year's time.

Fall Guy

By Gordon Martin

They declare that June is famous for the sweet and lovely bride, who will travel to the altar positively starry-eyed. And there's lots of social doin's and a party every day, since a young and handsome fellow soon will take the bride away. But he's not the only hero that we must appreciate, for the little girl's Papa is the chap who pays the freight.

If you've never had a daughter go a-marching down the aisle, after days of entertaining so's to get her wed in style, you can ask a doting father if it cost him lots of jack, and perhaps he'll wince and nod his head and wish he had it back. Oh it's true that busy mothers have a lot to plan and do, but it's Dad who plays the lonesome game of checkbook peekaboo.

She must have a lot of linen and the swankiest trousseau, and to anybody's bank account, they deal a lethal blow. She must be supplied with silverware to serve her hungry spouse, and sometimes poor Papa's got to make a payment on her house. So we toast with wine the happy bride, but save a whisky straight for the father who produced the show and had to pay the freight.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The Senate's genial chaplain, Rev. Frederick Brown Harris and Vice President Alben Barkley were exchanging domestic intelligence in the Senate cloakroom.

"My wife's away in St. Louis for two weeks," reported Barkley.

"I'm in the same boat," said the chaplain. "My wife's out of town, too."

"Well, let's do something about it," suggested the veep with a wink. "They'll never know the difference. How about a little pinocle or a night baseball game at Griffith Stadium?"

BRASS BOSOMS

The Italian embassy celebrated the anniversary of the founding of the Italian republic last week by bestowing medals on several people around the White House, among them General Harry Vaughan, General Louis Renfrow, and General Wallace Graham, the president's personal physician.

The medals were supposed to be for "contributing to the development of friendly relations between Italy and the United States."

However, here is what these three recipients did to improve "friendly relations" between the United States and Italy:

General Renfrow—When four American Legionnaires patriotically gave their time and money to visit Italy to present the Tide of Toys to Italian children, General Renfrow refused them passage on an air force plane. The secretary of air and the top generals of the air force OK'd the trip; but General Renfrow said no. Apparently the Italian embassy thought this merited a medal.

General Graham—At the height of European starvation, when the U. S. A. was buying food to send to the people of Italy, General Graham used his inside knowledge as a White House aide to speculate in the food which we were sending to Italy. He also was rewarded by the Italian government.

General Vaughan — In 1946 when the Italian people were starving and the American people were holding themselves down to one or two slices of bread daily, General Vaughan phoned the agriculture department demanding that American whisky distillers get a bigger grain quota at the expense of the Italian and European people.

When the agriculture department refused to yield, General Vaughan got nasty and claimed it was his prerogative to fix grain-liquor quotas.

Vaughan also pulled various other deals which the Italian government apparently considered meritorious. He favored race track construction at the expense of veterans' homes. He pulled wires for his friend, John Maragon, when Maragon was charged with smuggling. He also behaved so badly in regard to other matters that he won an official spanking from a Senate investigating committee.

Therefore, on the anniversary of the founding of the Italian republic, General Vaughan was awarded the star of solidarity, as a reward for promoting friendly relations between the United States and Italy.

Note—An increasing number of congressmen are concluding that George Washington was right when he banned all foreign medals to American officials. Since General Vaughan got his famed medal from Argentina, that country has received a $125,000,000 Export-Import Bank credit.

Answer: The pronoun "our" is heard as "ahr," to rhyme with tar, "ow-er" to rhyme with tower, and frequently, in Eastern and Southern speech, "ow-uh." However, best usage rhymes the word with hour—"ow" followed by an "r" vanish, thus: our.

Chicago: The word lever—should it rhyme with "ever" or "fever"?—T. T.

Answer: Both pronunciations are sanctioned by the authorities. It is my opinion that lever and leverage are customarily pronounced LEV-er and LEV-er-idge, in the United States. The short "e" was Noah Webster's only choice in his original American dictionary.

Montgomery: Please referee an argument and bring peace to this household. My husband says that the "sloe" of "sloe gin" is pronounced like the word "slow." I say it rhymes with Chloe.—Mrs. H.

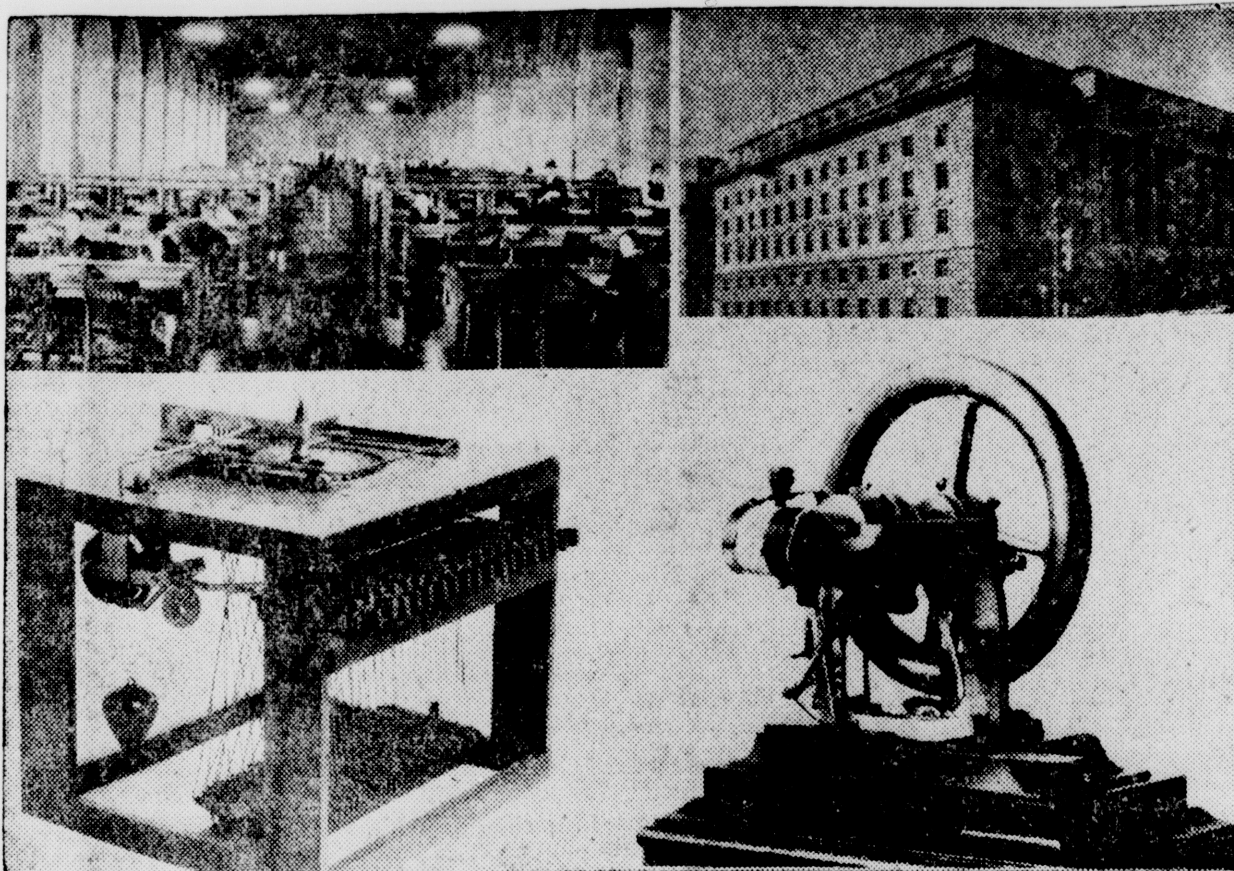

Answer: Sorry I cannot side with you, Mrs. H. Sloe is a one-syllable word, pronounced exactly like "slow."

Incidentally, sloe is the name of a kind of plum (plum). Its color is a bluish or purplish black. Sloe gin is so called because it takes its flavor (and its purplish color) from the sloe, and not from juniper berries, as is the case with ordinary gin.

Questions and Answers

Q—Did a particular child inspire Lewis Carroll to write Alice in Wonderland?

THE AMERICAN PATENT SYSTEM, the most beneficial in the world, this year marks its 160th anniversary, and the nation's preeminent leadership in industry, business and the sciences is based directly upon the patent law. Top left shows the search room in the U. S. Patent Office at Washington. At right, this wing of the Commerce Department building is devoted to the Patent Office. Lower left, patent office model of the original Sholes, Glidden and Soule typewriter of 1863. Right, model of the first Howe sewing machine, patented in 1846. Since the inception of the patent system, more than 2,500,000 patents have been issued and the volume grows from year to year.

Unique Patent System Is Basis Of America's Might And Progress

By HERBERT HOLLANDER

The statement is frequently, and truthfully, made that "the United States is a nation of inventors." Few even among those who make it, however, understand the whole remarkable story.

For, the reasons behind America's acknowledged pre-eminence in invention—acknowledged, that is, by all except Soviet Russia, which claims a first in practically everything—go back to the earliest days of this country, build up through the years, and are to be found now in the functioning of the U. S. Patent Office at Washington.

Rarely has the wisdom of the founding fathers been proved more abundantly than in the enactment in 1790, exactly 160 years ago, of the most liberal patent law ever devised, one which then went radically beyond that of any other nation in protecting the rights of the inventor and encouraging him in every respect. It still is regarded as the finest patent law in the world, even though changes are being advocated to make it even more effective in other directions.

The reason why America has become a nation of inventors is that the patent law, which came into being virtually with the creation of the United States, goes to the greatest possible lengths to insure protection for the inventor's brain-child. America's patent fees still are the smallest of any nation; there are no taxes as there are elsewhere; it is not necessary for the inventor to manufacture his article after a certain length of time to keep from losing his rights; and the patent runs for seventeen years.

Home of Invention

Because the American patent system is the most liberal ever devised, and because this nation in addition offered unparalleled opportunities for the development of worthy and original articles, it has become the virtual home of invention. To list the number of great inventions of American origin is to run almost the entire gamut of devices which today aid public necessities and have contributed untold billions to the wealth of this country and the rest of the world.

The telephone, the telegraph, the cotton gin, the reaper, the harvester, the vulcanization of rubber, the incandescent lamp, the sewing machine, the airplane—these are but a few of the tremendously important inventions created in America and traceable directly to our patent system.

Inventors from every part of the world have come to this country and some of the greatest American inventors were attracted to our shores by the unlimited opportunities offered. There is scarcely a nation that has not sent some creative-minded and nimble-fingered inventor to these shores.

The American patent system, and all others as well, as far as can be determined, originated in England where in 1623 there was enacted the famous "Statute of Monopolies" which abolished all exclusive economic privileges but established the right of an inventor to receive from the state a grant commensurate with the service rendered.

First Patent Grant

The first patent granted in America was to Samuel Winslow. It was issued in 1641 by the General Court of Massachusetts for a novel method of making salt. It is said that in addition to Massachusetts, Connecticut also early was active in encouraging invention. The latter state stipulated that the invention "shall be adjudged profitable to the country."

On July 31, 1790, Samuel Hopkins of Vermont received the first United States patent. It was granted for a method of "Making Pot and Pearl Ashes."

The basis of the patent system is a provision in the Constitution giving Congress the power to secure to inventors for limited times an exclusive right to their discoveries. The first legislative enactment was the law of 1790, placed on the statute books after George Washington had addressed Congress in its favor.

The Secretary of State, the Secretary of War, and the Attorney General constituted a board for the examination of applications and grant of patents. The first Secretary of State was Thomas Jefferson and as he was, through his office, keeper of the records, he became in fact the first administrator of the patent system.

He was keenly interested in this duty and was the most active member of the board, examining personally every application filed during his term.

Through the efforts of Senator Ruggles of Maine, the patent system substantially as it is today was brought into being in 1836. This law instituted the so-called American system of granting patents only after searching examination into the "utility," operativeness, and novelty of the inventions, and provided the machinery for carrying out the purpose of the act.

This legislation created a revolution in methods of granting patents which was comparable in effect with the inauguration of the patent system itself. This system is the one under which the U. S. patent system now is operating.

Since 1836, more than 2,500,000 patents have been issued. From 1790 to 1836, 10,000 were granted. Beginning its existence with a commissioner, one examiner, a clerk and two other clerks having the qualifications of draftsmen, the office force now includes a commissioner, two assistant commissioners, executive officer, a board of appeals, a solicitor, five law examiners, an executive examiner of trademarks, 70 primary examiners, nine examiners of interference, numerous assistant examiners, and a large clerical force.

So vastly has the work of the office grown that the present staff is hard pressed to keep abreast of it, and a situation that complicates matters considerably is the fact that there is a constant drain on the experts of the office by private interests.

In the hundreds of thousands of patents issued since the establishment of the office, it is only natural that there should have been some which appear on the ludicrous side. Officials are reluctant to talk about them, feeling that too often the public's impression of the whole system has been based upon the publicity accorded some odd contraption upon which Uncle Sam has seen fit to grant patent protection.

Nevertheless, in strictly private moments they do derive considerable amusement from some item. One that always gets a lugubrious laugh is the coffin signalling vice. The inventor apparently had a fear of being buried alive—and felt that others had a similar fear—so in order to stave off this end he set his brain and hands to work and finally emerged from his laboratory victorious—with his sensational coffin signalling device. The market for this invention has been extremely limited.

As a matter of fact, in every "art" there are a goodly number of inventions which now look rather ridiculous but which were evolved only after the burning of a large quantity of midnight oil. And their inventors were able to convince the office that they were entitled to patent protection.

To the average person the inventor is a long-haired dreamer who always is chasing rainbows. But this popular conception of the inventor is far from the fact.

Letters From The People

Friendly Attitude

Dear Editor:

Having just recently finished soliciting all business places and industry for the Samuel Gompers Centennial celebration. I have a very real desire to thank all businessmen for their generosity.

Several things troubled me as I agreed to take the job, of which my lack of experience and the fallacy that there is much antipathy between management and labor, were not the least.

My inexperience caused me much discomfort to the delight of many of those I approached. I can truthfully say I learned much from the businessmen. Their goodnatured chiding kept me from making the same mistakes twice. The lessons were in no way painful.

As I look back on my experiences they appear very funny to me, if I were to write some of them people who have read Robert Benchley's "Ten years in a quandy" would swear it was taken from there.

I found I need not have feared any discussion of management and labor. The subject was often brought up, but never with discredit to either. Many managers are justly proud of the fact that years pass and there is no conflict between the two. I saw trophies won by men from the shops very prominently displayed in the office.

The manager very proudly speaks of his men's ability in competitive sports. A good shop can only exist by team work, not only among the employees but management and employee. This seemed to be the sentiment held in every shop we entered. Many managers gave their time to take us through their shops. The pride in his efficient men was prominent in his manner and speech.

Many business men gave us valuable tips toward making this affair a success, and from each we were given their best wishes for the success of this celebration.

From a job I took with much misgiving, I met many wonderful people and learned there is no quarrel between management and labor.

This letter was written in appreciation to the business men of this vicinity for their generosity; the gracious manner in which we were received, and last but not least, the good wishes expressed by the business men for the success of labor's largest celebration, to date, held in Escanaba.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

PMA CONFERENCE—The boss told me to cover the recent PMA (Production and Marketing Administration) conference in Escanaba.

On the steps of Wm. Bonifas Memorial auditorium before the opening session I went over the program with Thomas B. Kennedy, a likable young man who is administrative assistant to the state PMA committee. There is another administrative assistant, a Mr. Page, but we didn't see him.

Mr. Kennedy reviewed the program, told us which were the "important talks" and then went on about his business. The dinner meeting that evening would be entirely social. No speeches—just eat and dance afterward.

Folks began arriving for the conference. Quite a few good solid citizens in appearance. The men looked as if they had been out in the sun. The better dressed ones were on the pale side. They were PMA administrators at the state and federal level, we discovered later.

MISTAKE—Around the auditorium entrance, contacting the county committee-men, were some salesmen. One of the men identified himself as "with Solvay" and inquired about the walleye fishing.

Inside the door other salesmen passed out colorful booklets and over on a table in the foyer was a display of "Butler Steel Grain Bins."

I took one of the booklets but revealed to the "Butler Steel Grain Bins" men that I was not intimately associated with PMA and had no use for grain storage.

KEYNOTING—While waiting for the first speaker, I glanced through the grain bins folder.

"Take advantage of the new government loan plan!" it urged.

"Under the new government loan plan, you can easily afford to buy a Butler Grain Bin in the size best suited to your needs."

"1—It is eligible for a purchase loan."

"2—It makes your grain eligible for a commodity loan."

"3—It enables you to collect a storage fee."

"4—It makes it unnecessary to accept less than support price for your grain."

"Don't delay! Take advantage of the new government loan plan to get your own Butler Galvanized Steel Grain Bin. They last a lifetime!"

FIGHTING MY BATTLE—I still had no use for a grain bin, although it sounded very attractive.

On stage the introductions were under way.

James (just call him Jim) H. Quick, Michigan PMA chairman, of Lansing, was telling why it was impossible for Ralph S. Trigg, national PMA administrator and president of CCC (Commodity Credit Corporation) to attend as scheduled.

"Mr. Trigg is fighting our battles back in Washington," said Mr. Quick. "Those men of ours in Washington, you should think how hard they are working, striving to get for us farmers back here in the state what they can—an income to raise our families."

"Years of their lives are chopped off in the hard work they do. It is the same from the bottom to the top, for all those fellows. But Mr. Trigg is sending his right hand man, who is working hard trying to help us in getting those appropriations for us that we need."

AND THE NATION'S—A PMA committee man was staring at my note taking. I stopped.

Jim Quick said something about the governor coming to "teach us some new dances as he did at Traverse City last year."

Then he told the PMA people how fortunate they were to be able to get together "and formulate a program that is handed down through Washington."

My PMA neighbor was watching my pencil again.

"This is the only place in the world where we farmers can get together on our program," Mr. Quick said.

Heat Is On For Loan To Spain

Franco Will Pledge To Be A Good Boy

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—On a kind of now-or-never basis the heat is being stepped up to get a loan for Spain out of the export-import bank. In fact the report is being persistently circulated that the loan has already been approved on the highest level and that it only remains for the bank to carry out this decision.

But this may be somewhat premature. Within the bank there is opposition to a loan to Franco's Spain. A rescue operation in behalf of Franco would have loud political repercussions both at home and abroad and particularly in Western Europe.

The now-or-never urgency apparently grows out of Franco's difficult political and economic situation. Propaganda out of Madrid suggests the outlines of a deal being pushed here.

A Pledge To Be Good

As a first step in this deal, Dictator Franco would drop his minister of commerce and industry, Juan Antonio Suances. Suances has stood for planning and "discipline" in industry as opposed to the "liberal" concept of free enterprise. Removing this embarrassment, Franco would also pledge himself to be a good boy and conform to the ideas of the top-flight New York bankers who are now in Spain.

A hope of Franco's backers, who are numerous and powerful in Washington, is to follow the precedent of the recent export-import bank loan to Argentina. In the Argentine, Juan Peron, at one time Franco's friend and ally, found himself in financial difficulties and after a promise to behave he was granted a loan of $125,000,000.

But Franco's case is not on the same footing. Considered on the basis of expediency, geography makes a lot of difference. After all Argentina is part of the hemisphere and the reasoning was that, in spite of past mistakes and misunderstandings on both sides, we must live with the Argentines.

It is on the basis of geography, the need of a foothold in Europe in the event of a third world war, that pressure has come from military sources for the Spanish loan. Those opposing it say that to succor Franco with a U. S. government loan would only put the lid temporarily on a volcano. So intense is the feeling in almost all classes against the dictatorship with its inevitable corruption and favoritism that an eruption is inevitable.

Opponents of the loan argue that Franco can be succeeded without disorder by a coalition of monarchists and republicans who would form an interim government that might rule for a considerable period. Such a government would release most of the thousands of political prisoners now held in overcrowded jails. Monarchists have been the most recent prisoners added to the pyramid of coercion. But they have been treated somewhat more leniently than liberals and republicans.

Loans To Spain

Last January, Secretary Acheson took a realistic step in reversing the futile non-recognition policy voted in the United Nations. Under this policy the United States and most of the U. N. powers withdrew their ambassadors from Madrid.

But at the same time, apparently under pressure from such powerful friends of Franco as Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada, Acheson said that the state department was "quite prepared to acquiesce" in loans contributing to Spain's industrial recovery. He ruled out any "general balance of payments" loan which the Spanish government might use as it saw fit.

This last is, of course, what Franco wants. But the immediate

Court Gives Federal Government Rights To Louisiana Tidelands

WASHINGTON—(P)—The supreme court Monday gave the federal government top rights over the oil-rich tidelands off the coasts of Texas and Louisiana.

Justice Douglas delivered the court's opinion in separate cases. In the case of Texas, Justice Reed wrote a dissenting opinion in which Justice Minton joined. Justice Frankfurter wrote a separate dissent.

In the Louisiana case the vote was 7-0.

Justices Jackson and Clark took no part in either. The government sued for the multimillion-dollar gulf coast oil prize after winning a similar suit in 1947 for "full domination and power" over California tidelands. Douglas said the decision in the California case controls the government's suit against Louisiana. He wrote: "We have carefully considered the extended and able argument of Louisiana in all its aspects, and have found no reason why Louisiana stands on a better footing than California so far as the three-mile (seaward) belt is concerned.

"The national interest in that belt is as great off the shore line of Louisiana as it is off the shore line of California. And there are no material differences in the preadmission or postadmission history of Louisiana that make her case stronger than California's."

Bank Account Best-Babson

Government Bonds Also Desirable

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass.—Many of the letters which come to me are from small investors who have not funds enough to subscribe to a reliable investment advisory service. These, I try to answer frankly and freely. Recently, however, letters are coming from businessmen who haven't had any investment experience, although successful in their own business. With such letters in mind, I am writing this column.

Cash In The Bank

Unless World War III suddenly comes, I see no "business bust" in sight. In fact, so long as the cold war continues, President Truman may be justified in artificially inflating business to avoid unemployment. On the other hand, someday there will be a "bust" when stock prices and many commodity prices may sell for one half what they are selling for today. This means that a good bank account is the best insurance and investment for a businessman.

Government Bonds

Many successful businessmen have all their money in a factory, or store, or real estate. They have made no provision to enable their family to pay their "death taxes" so-called. As a result, the family has been obliged to sell, or mortgage, the business in order to pay these taxes. If the death should come during a depression, this could be very serious. The government agrees, however, to take the U. S. Government 2½ per cent bonds due 1967-72 in payment for these taxes at their face value upon death, even if Government Bonds at that time may be selling at a discount. Therefore, businessmen should figure now what their death taxes will be and always keep enough of these Government Bonds on hand to pay the tax in an emergency. These bonds, however, should be the personal property of the man and not owned by his corporation.

High Grade Bonds

These are the bonds which are commonly advertised. They are mostly bonds of utility companies paying only about 3 per cent. They are good investments for insurance companies and other institutions, but I see no reason why a businessman should buy any at this time. This also applies to most preferred stocks. Even nontaxable bonds are selling too high at the present time.

Therefore, I think that the businessman should forget bonds unless they have attractive convertible features.

Merchandise Stocks

Businessmen who want to buy stocks at this time might well consider merchandise stocks, especially those of the leading chain stores. Such corporations have few labor troubles; they do a cash business and have a turnover of 4 or 5 times a year, and if out of debt, they can take care of themselves whether we are entering inflation or deflation. Let me take this occasion to say that during the next few years the greatest opportunities will come to those employed in selling. It will be easy enough for businessmen to get goods manufactured but the difficulty will be to sell them. Young people who are graduating this month from college and high school will be wise to train to sell, even if it means house-to-house peddling.

Productive Real Estate

As a rule, most businessmen have enough in real estate, but I still feel it a prime investment. Well located suburban acreage should be the most desirable. Small fertile farms near settled communities should be good investments. I like growing woodland which belongs to "no union," and "works" day, night, holidays and Sundays! I don't care much for buildings or houses. Most well located land is constantly growing more valuable; but nearly all buildings thereon are constantly growing less valuable.

Education And Churches

Wise businessmen will liberally invest in the family's health, education and spiritual development. In fact, to be niggardly regarding these things is very dangerous. The truly most important investments are those in the unseen and intangible. There is no use in working hard to make and save money and then have it dissipated by children lacking in good judgment or good religion.

Detroit's Recorders Court Badly Jammed

LANSING—(P)—Governor Williams asked the state judicial council Friday to study an "alarms" log-jam of cases in Detroit's recorder's court.

The governor was informed that due to illness among the recorder's judges and a sharp increase in criminal cases the court was 900 cases behind its docket and was holding about 300 persons in jail awaiting trial.

Williams requested the study after Recorder Judges Joseph A. Gillis and Paul E. Krause asked him, under the law, to ask for the transfer of a circuit judge to relieve the congestion in their 10-judge court.

Governor Signs Bill To Bolster Powers Of Conservation Officers

LANSING—(P)—State conservation officers Wednesday received full peace officer powers, the right to carry arms and the right to search and seize upon suspicion in misdemeanor cases.

A legislative bill broadening the officers' powers was signed into law by Governor Williams and takes immediate effect.

Williams also signed legislation permitting municipalities to pledge state highway money to finance revenue bonds for the construction of limited access highways. He also signed a bill allowing local governments to zone against hazards. Both have immediate effect.

The conservation officer bill was adopted to restore powers lost when the state supreme court tossed out the 1948 "search and seizure" bill.

"Search and seizure on probable cause is an old right under Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence," Williams said, "but its application to misdemeanors in Michigan is a new one. While there is little case law in the subject, the preponderance of cases and Michigan dictum indicate that this part of the law should have a chance to be upheld in our courts."

Conservation Director P. J. Hoffmaster said that orders to officers to put their guns back on were transmitted by radio immediately after the governor signed the bill.

He added that arrangements have already been made to call groups of officers together for review of the new law and the supreme court decisions which made it necessary.

"This new law gives these men a lot of authority," Hoffmaster said, "and we want to be sure the authority is not exceeded."

The expressway bill was sought by Detroit and Grand Rapids to aid them in building large limited access highways with bond issues rather than waiting until the cost has been accumulated.

Williams said the legislation would not only permit "rapid transportation in and out of our cities but promote highway safety and save lives."

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Segerstrom and family have left for Detroit where Mr. Segerstrom will seek employment.

Cornerstone Vanishes Before Dedication

SEWANEE, Tenn.—(P)—One of the biggest questions making the rounds here is: "Who Has the Cornerstone?"

Dr. Boylston Green, vice-chancellor of the University of the South, said last night the 200-pound piece of polished marble had vanished.

It was to be dedicated in formal ceremonies Sunday commemorating the erection of the $300,000 Gailor Memorial dining hall.

Green said the stone was placed near the building Wednesday afternoon but was reported missing Thursday morning.

"I think it is a clever prank and someone will bring it back," the chancellor said.

He did not say if Sunday's schedule will be interrupted if the stone is not found.

Chopper Cuts Silage Costs

Advise Chopper For Grass Silage

Nine out of ten Central Michigan farmers harvesting grass silage in 1949 used field chopping equipment. Michigan State College surveys of more than 200 farmers indicated about ten percent using hay loaders and stationary silo fillers, but they admitted it took more work.

The farmer with the field chopping equipment lowered his harvesting cost about 30 percent. Cost figures show it cost about $3.34 a ton to put up grass silage with a field chopper and $4.74 a ton with hay loaders and silo fillers. Labor was the big extra cost item.

Farmers using the field chopping equipment were able to handle more of the crop in less time and that helped keep the cost lower.

Field Chopper Use

Farmers who have only a hay loader and silo filler can use them to make grass silage but it is more work. The job goes slower and not as many tons can be handled before the crop gets too mature to make good top-quality forage. A small chopper and blower means an investment of about $1,500 and a larger harvester and blower about $2,500. To that cost you must add two or three forage wagons at about $350 each.

Many farmers want to know how much you must use a machine to make it pay. These survey figures show you would need to use a small chopper 75 hours and a large one 125 hours a year to make it worth the investment.

A farmer with 15 to 20 dairy cows would need about 75 tons of hay-crop silage. He would also need about 75 tons of hay and 30 tons of straw. If he used the field chopping equipment for all these crops he could afford to own the smaller type field chopping equipment. He would need nearly twice that much work to economically own the large equipment.

Operating Costs

There are many farmers employing custom workers with field choppers to do this work. These survey records show the costs are about the same whether you own your own equipment or hire a custom harvesting crew. Custom rates last year were about $10.50 an hour for small equipment and $12.50 an hour for large machines and those prices included all labor and equipment.

On small farms there would be an advantage of using custom equipment, but on large farms, owning the equipment seems to have an advantage. If you have your own equipment, you can be sure the crop is harvested at the right time to get the high feeding value. If you hire it, you must take a chance of getting the crew at the time your crop is ready.

Many farmers will want to compare the cost of harvesting hay and grass silage. Since grass silage is high in moisture, it takes about three tons to equal the dry weight of one ton of hay. Cost figures show that it costs about $5 more an acre to put up one cutting of grass-silage and one cutting of hay than it does to put up two cuttings of hay.

Putting up grass silage is quite different from harvesting hay. Getting the crop in the silo at the right moisture content is very important. Work must be organized so that the forage crop is put in the silo within 1 to 3 hours after it is cut, if there is adequate sunshine.

Death Takes Writer Of 'Carolina Moon'

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Joseph A. Burke, the man who wrote many of the songs we've been singing since talking pictures came in, is dead at 66.

Burke died yesterday at his suburban upper dandy apartment. But he left behind tunes that will live for years—"Standards" they call them in tin alley.

Here are a few: "Carolina Moon", "Oh, How I Miss You Tonight", "Yearning", "I'm Dancing With Tears in My Eyes", "In A Little Gypsy Tearoom", "A Little Bit Independent", "Moon Over Miami", "My Harbor of Dreams", "Rambling Rose" and "For You".

From the first "Gold Diggers of Broadway"—one of the early movie musical extravaganzas—came his "Tiptoe Through the Tulips" and "I'm Painting the Clouds With Sunshine".

State Of Michigan Lobbies To Acquire Percy Jones Hospital

LANSING—(AP)—Four state officials will go to Washington, D. C., Wednesday in a new effort to acquire the army's Percy Jones hospital at Battle Creek for the state.

"This time they will combine their lobbying with a delegation from Massachusetts and possibly from Pennsylvania, both of whom are seeking ownership of army hospitals which are being abandoned."

The Michigan group will include state controller Robert F. Steadman, Senators Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek) and Don Vander Werp (R-Fremont) and Rep. Harry J. Phillips (R-Port Huron).

Michigan seeks the hospital for a mental institution.

Cologne—At War And Six Years After

Six years have passed since liberating American forces hit the Normandy beaches on June 6, 1944, and many changes have taken place in Europe since that time. The two scenes below, taken at Cologne, Germany, showing a battle spot at the height of its destruction and six years after, as a peaceful street corner, give a typical example of the reconstruction that has taken place so far. At left, troops of the 104th U. S. Infantry Division enter Cologne, already practically destroyed by aerial bombardment and artillery fire. At right, on the same spot six years after,

Cologne residents move quietly about their daily affairs. Note that post office, at right, is still doing business at its old stand. Apartment house in center, once blasted wide open, has a new wall and roof.

Forest Fire Nears Newfoundland Town; People Set To Flee

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland—(AP)—Residents of the northern Newfoundland paper town of Lewisport today continued preparations for evacuation as a forest fire roared out of control 2½ miles from the town.

Adding to the danger were 2,000,000 gallons of high octane gasoline stored in the town for the huge airfield at Gander. The blaze was described late last night as completely out of control, though dying winds gave some promise of help. Fire fighters said a change of wind was the only weapon that would be effective against the slowly advancing flames.

The steamer Springdale was standing by to take refugees if evacuation was ordered. Meanwhile 200 volunteers were battling nine other forest blazes at various points in the island province.

Summer's Arrival Will Be June 21

ANN ARBOR—Summer's arrival and the appearance of two beautiful constellations provide the astronomical highlights for the month of June.

At 6:37 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, on Wednesday, June 21, the sun will reach its northernmost position in the sky, according to Dr. Hazel M. Losh, assistant professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan.

On that day, the sun will rise and set 33 degrees north of the east and west points of the horizon, she explains. This will produce the longest day of the year. However, during most of June, the sun will stand within one-half a degree of this position so the actual variation in the length of the day on June 21 and the other days of the month will be very slight.

The Northern Cross in the northeast sky and Scorpius in the southeast will be bright spots of interest and beauty during the month, Dr. Losh asserts. The Northern Cross, also known as the Swan or Cygnus, rides sideways through the June skies.

Haberdasher Awards Joe Stalin Title Of Worst-Dressed Man

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Russia's Marshal Stalin got an unofficial rating as "the worst dressed man on the international scene," Haberdasher Paul D. Gilbert, addressing the Association of Better Business Bureaus, awarded the title. Gilbert, head of the National Association of Retail Clothiers, added:

"A lot of the world's problems would be solved if Joe Stalin would come over here and get himself a nice summer suit—a good straw hat and a pair of brown and white shoes. "His pictures indicate that he'd take a short stout size X X X. "I'd like to invite him over to my store in South Bend, Ind. We'd fix him up with an outfit that would make even Marshal Tito like him."

King Of Egypt Puts Stamp Of Approval On Sister's Marriage

CARIO.—(AP)—In a ceremony as simple but sumptuous as royalty could arrange, King Farouk Sunday ratified the marriage of his sister, Princess Faikah, with Fouad Sadek, a commoner.

The rites, performed at the monarch's vast Kubba palace in suburban Cairo, put the Islamic stamp of approval on Faikah's marriage, which took place in Sacramento, Calif., last April 5. The act has been approved by the Grand Mufti of Egypt, this country's top religious authority, as meeting Moslem requirements.

Another sister, Princess Faithia, who also wed a commoner, was having more difficulty winning royal approval of her marriage. Farouk stripped Faithia of her royal title and privileges after she wed Riad Ghali, a Coptic Christian, in San Francisco on April 25. Ghali became a Moslem and the two were remarried in a Moslem ceremony in California last week. Princess Faikah came to Cairo with the announced intention of pleading with her brother to forgive Faithia.

Rent Control Staffs On Borrowed Time; Agency About Broke

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Some 2,700 federal rent control workers began working on borrowed time Tuesday.

Dismissal notices sent them two weeks ago and due to become effective were cancelled by Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods. Woods explained that his agency still is "virtually broke" and that the staff can be kept on the books only until June 30. The present federal rent law expires then unless congress votes an extension.

Woods said the workers have agreed to take "voluntary payless leaves" of from a week or more to remain on the payroll until June 30.

AVERAGE 39.5 POINTS

EAST LANSING—Coach Biggie Munn's three Michigan State teams (1947, 48, 49) have scored 855 points in 29 games, an average of 29.5 points per game against some of the nation's top grid elevens.

Plans For Continued European Aid In 1952 Bring On Criticism

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman's indication that the need for aid to Western Europe won't end with the Marshall Plan in 1952 stirred bipartisan criticism in congress today.

While the president's assertion in a Columbia, Mo., address that this country can't close out its "vital national interest" in a healthy world economy, found acceptance among many lawmakers, they didn't agree among themselves how to maintain it.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, blasted at Mr. Truman's remarks as an indication that the administration intends to come up with a new European recovery program by another name.

"Paul Hoffman has said there are absolutely no plans to continue the Economic Cooperation Administration beyond 1952 and now the president comes along and contradicts him," Wherry told a reporter.

"I'm convinced we are never going to get those European countries off the American taxpayer's back as long as this administration is in power."

Brewer Veteran Shows 'Em How

Outfielder Howie Moss, a veteran of 30 is showing up the youngsters at the plate at Milwaukee. The chunky power-hitter, clicking near the .320 mark in the American association batting race, drove in all of Milwaukee runs Friday night in a 5-4 win over St. Paul which completed a three-game sweep.

He homered with two on and later singled over another run. In the ninth with the bases loaded Moss walked to force in the winning run. Moss got credit for his fifth RBI of the game.

Louisville's game at Toledo was washed out.

Los Angeles Girl, 20, Asks To Be Freed Of Her Three Husbands

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Earlene Mildred Runner, 20-year-old parolee from the California Youth Authority, has asked superior court to annul her marriages to three men.

Her trio of suits said she wed Newman Berry in Reno, Nev., Feb. 11, 1947; Teddy Wayne Conrell in Salome, Ariz., Sept. 1, 1948; and John Bowling in Yuma, Ariz., Oct. 9, 1949.

At the time of each wedding she was not legally free, the petitions said.

Earlene, 20, is in jail. The Youth Authority, under whose jurisdiction she came after she ran away from her Bell Gardens home, charges she violated her parole. A parole officer said her record shows she has two children, expects a third, and filed the suits to negotiate placing her expected child for adoption.

Lloyd LaBeach eclipsed the American standard for the 220 yard dash around one curve in 22 seconds flat. Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette set the old mark of 21.2 at Milwaukee in 1933.

Jim Newcomb turned in the fastest collegiate mile of the season in 4 minutes, 7.7 seconds.

Study Of Forrestal Diary Urged To Get Amerasia Case Clue

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Brewster (R-Me) urged President Truman today to study the late James V. Forrestal's diary for a possible clue to the origin of a "go slow" request in the 1945 Amerasia case arrests.

"If the president still feels the diary cannot be turned over to Congress, then I suggest that he examine it himself in this matter," Brewster said. "Then he could give us a report."

A Senate foreign relations subcommittee investigating the Amerasia secret documents episode reportedly has received testimony that Forrestal, this country's first defense secretary, probably advised delaying the arrests in the controversial case.

The case involved discovery of hundreds of confidential government papers in the New York office of the now-defunct magazine Amerasia and elsewhere.

Forrestal's diary has been locked up at the White House since his death last year in a plunge from an upper floor of a Naval hospital near Washington. Mr. Truman in the past has turned aside all requests from Congress for a look at the diary, which reportedly deals with many top defense secrets.

Women Block Cars For Lignite Mine By Lying Down On Track

ZAP, N. D.—(AP)—Reinforcements were called for by state police today after four women blocked delivery of rail cars to a lignite mine here yesterday by throwing themselves onto a switch track.

The mine was reopened Thursday for the first time since a labor dispute closed in Jan. 12. Violence flared briefly and highway patrolmen were ordered here by Gov. Fred G. Aandahl.

E. M. Klein, patrol superintendent, said the women identified themselves as wives of striking miners. He reported his crew of ten was helpless because as soon as one of the women was removed, she returned to another section of the switch track. Klein said he would ask the governor for more men.

After waiting for more than an hour, Fred Schaumburg, trainmaster for the Northern Pacific railroad, ordered the 20 empty cars pulled away from the entry to the mine.

Liquor Commission Asked To Restore Gen. Kunzig's Duties

LANSING—(AP)—The State Civil Service commission asked the supreme court Thursday to force the liquor control commission to return all the duties and responsibilities as liquor commission director to Louis K. Kunzig.

The Civil Service agency petitioned the court for a writ of mandamus.

The court earlier had upheld a Civil Service commission order that Kunzig must be returned to his job. He was returned to his title and salary of $10,300 a year but the liquor commission has contended there are no duties for him because of a reorganization.

ers covering them. Just before the 1948 Republican convention, when her husband was considered a possibility for the G. O. P. presidential nomination, Mrs. Vandenberg said she hoped he would not win that honor.

"Neither my husband nor I want it," she said. "We have nearly five years more to go in the Senate and I'd like us to have some fun after that."

When Mrs. Vandenberg entered a hospital last month for what proved to be her final illness, she was given a room next to her husband. He was there for examinations following his recovery from a serious operation.

Mrs. Vandenberg was the Senator's second wife. They were married June 14, 1918, a few years after the death of his first wife. At that time he was a newspaper publisher in Grand Rapids, Mich. She was an advertising woman in Detroit.

Six Years On Tribune They had met years before when both were students at the university of Michigan.

In the years between, she had taught in Saginaw, Mich., and Fort Wayne. Then she went to Chicago where for two years she did social service work with the United Charities. After that she spent six years on the Chicago Tribune as assistant to the woman's editor.

At the time of her marriage, the oldest of the three Vandenberg children was only eight. They still call her "Mom."

Arthur Jr., the eldest, now is with the Rockefeller Development Corporation in Brazil. The two daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Pfeiffer and Mrs. Barbara Bailey, live in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Mrs. Vandenberg was born at Ft. Wayne, Ind., July 25, 1882.

On receiving word of her death, the Senate—in a long night session of debate over extension of federal rent controls—adopted a resolution expressing "profound regret."

Arrangements for her funeral have not been announced.

Feuding Grand Ledge Justice Is Ordered Ousted By Governor

LANSING—(AP)—Charles F. Young, the Grand Ledge feuding justice of the peace, was ordered ousted from office Thursday by Governor Williams.

The ouster was based on testimony taken March 22 before probate judge Maurice E. Tripp of Lenawee county.

Williams said that the testimony indicated clearly that Young had denied counsel in a jury trial to a person accused of crime, had entered a judgement after a case had been dismissed by agreement of the parties to the suit, had arbitrarily imposed contempt sentences "without adequate cause" and had levied sentences in excess of those allowed by law.

Young attracted state-wide attention last winter by sentencing the Grand Ledge chief of police, an attorney and a newspaper editor for contempt of court.

First Veto Recorded By Governor; New Sex Deviate Bill Signed

LANSING—(AP)—In his first veto of the year, Governor Williams Friday rejected the legislature's attempt to recapture the general fund $2,607,978 in unexpended funds previously appropriated.

Williams said the recapture was unnecessary and unwise. About half the money, the governor said, will revert to the general fund automatically at the end of the fiscal year, June 30, while the other half is money for "much needed construction projects, particularly in the field of mental health."

The bill would have recaptured $1,135,574 for mental hospital projects, including a 50-bed boys' detention building and a 50-bed girls' detention building at the Caledonia state home and training school and 60 new beds for a farm colony there.

Williams signed into law the legislature's sex deviate bill.

It requires that signs of sex abnormality must be shown for four months before a person may be declared a criminal sexual psychopath. Previously a year's history was required.

Library Adventure

By Arnold Mulder

Writing in a current magazine, Philip Wylie, novelist, short story writer, essayist, makes a passionate protest against the American habit of barging in on an author's privacy. This protest has been made again, and again, by many types of writers. But it never does any good. The general reading public continues to feel that it is perfectly all right to steal an author's time, to deprive him of the working hours by means of which alone he can make a living.

So far back as the beginning of the century the great Joseph Conrad used to protest against similar practices in England. And since that time many writers have pointed to the unfairness of the "lion hunters."

Philip Wylie, like many before him, points out that the author is a lone wolf; when he is compelled to stop working because a gushing female invades his study to tell him either how she admires him or how she despises him, his production stops for the time being. The business executive has secretaries to go on with the work he is paid to do, so that production does not stop when he is interrupted. The writer can't go on making a living when someone steals his time.

Moreover, such people as business executives have a staff to protect them. The would-be interrupter has to run the gauntlet of subordinates before he can interrupt his victim. Most people would consider it an imposition to break in on a busy executive but they think nothing of breaking in on an author. Movie stars have won the reputation of being much more gracious than authors. But Wylie points out that movie stars have a public relations force to act for them. The letters sent by gushing fans are meticulously answered, because it is good business to do so, but the star himself or herself does not have to do the job, and he or she seldom even sees the letter. If the poor war author had to answer all the letters he couldn't go on writing books.

One of the greatest sinners of them all, according to Wylie, is the grade school or high school teacher. She often encourages her pupils to write direct to an author. Said author is requested to describe in detail what he meant to say in each and everyone of his books—books that neither teacher nor pupil has read. Those pupil correspondents want him to write their term papers for them, and they want him to do all this not only for nothing but without delay, by airmail.

Another person who tries to victimize the author is the one who sends him manuscripts for criticism. This practice is so common, so taken for granted, that there probably is hardly a writer in America, popular, less popular, or only mildly popular, who has not suffered from it repeatedly. The correspondent has written a short story, or an essay, or a poem, or a novel. Will the successful author please read it, make all necessary corrections, reconstruct such parts of it as may need reconstruction, rewrite whatever parts can be improved, and help the sender to find a publisher for his work of genius?

And of course, nine times out of ten the sender does not even enclose return postage!

Philip Wylie asserts that writers thus victimized are increasingly falling into the habit either of throwing all such things into the waste basket or returning them unopened. The latter precaution has become necessary because authors are often accused of "stealing" the plots of manuscripts sent them.

When popular authors hide away to write, and disconnect their telephones, they don't do so to be eccentric, merely because they want to find time to write.

The Rehoboth

An Ideal "Small Family" House

Rooms	Five
Bedrooms	Two
Closets	Seven
Cubage-House	20,300
Garage	3,700

Combining an attractive exterior with a comfortably planned livable interior, the Rehoboth will prove especially popular with small families.

Spacious Closets

Spacious linen and clothes closets are included in this charming house in answer to widespread current demand for plenty of storage space. Important in all modern homes, ample closet area is more vital than ever in homes that lack attic storage space.

You'll like the way the bedrooms in the Rehoboth are set apart from the rest of the house by the two hallways and bath. The abundance of windows, with their guarantee of plentiful light and ventilation; the large living room; the proximity of the kitchen and dining room.

Measuring 40 by 26 feet, the house has overall dimensions of 60 feet and a cubage of 19,000 feet. If you're planning to build on a budget you could easily add the attached porch and garage at some later date. The living room fireplace is another non-essential feature that could be easily omitted for reasons of economy.

Just a glance at the accompanying illustration will show you that clapboards make a handsome exterior for this house. If you prefer an all wood, stone or brick exterior you will find these finishes also blend harmoniously with the architecture.

Set the house somewhat back from the street to show off to best advantage its simple lines and low-slung architecture. After opening the front door of the Rehoboth you step into a square-shaped hallway. The extra-large clothes closet, at the further end of the hall not only makes a convenient spot in which to hang visitors' wraps but it also serves as a storage place for the family's stormy weather apparel.

Through the archway at the right you enter the spacious living room which is 15 feet 6 inches by 13 feet 6 inches. The abundance of windows in this room makes it appear even larger than its actual measurements.

Flanked by two smaller windows, the large window in the front wall provides an excellent view of the front yard and the surrounding countryside. The two side windows will enable you to enjoy a view from this side of the house at the same time as they bring light and sunshine into this section of the living room.

If you want to have a fireplace in your home, the living room makes an excellent location for it and in this plan the architects suggest placing it in the back wall that divides the living room from the dining room. A built-in bookcase in the corner where the back wall joins the side outside wall would help to give this section of the room a cozy, friendly appearance and perhaps set it apart from the rest of the living room as a spot for unhurried reading and quiet relaxation.

At the left of the doorway to the 11 by 9-foot dining room is a built-in cabinet in which you can keep your glassware or china ware. In the further corner of the dining room itself is another cabinet which also can be used for china, glassware or special serving pieces.

A door at the right leads directly into the well-planned kitchen. The stove is located at the left of this doorway with working counters, complete with cabinets above and below, arranged in a U-shaped pattern extending to the doorway located in the opposite wall and leading to the adjoining porch.

Preparing meals in the 11 by 10 foot 6 inch kitchen really would be a joy, because everything you need is so near at hand. With the refrigerator placed against the wall separating the kitchen from the living room, and just about directly opposite the stove, you'll save many precious steps both in the preparation of your family's meals and in cleaning up afterwards.

Directly underneath the double windows in the back wall makes an excellent location for the sink. Not only do these windows bring you extra light and sunshine while you're performing your daily household chores, but they also enable you to keep a watchful eye on the youngsters playing in the back yard.

Attached Porch

The attached porch, reached through a door from the kitchen as well as from the garage, is 8 by 11 feet in dimensions. Whether you prefer to leave it as an open porch or to glass or screen it in is entirely up to you. However, you will find this porch especially convenient in stormy weather when it will provide you with a protected entrance to the house from the garage and vice versa.

Containing two windows on either side, the garage, measuring 20 by 11 feet, is large enough so that the man of the house can leave his lawn mower or garden tools in a storage area at the rear. The doorway to the yard is in the side wall.

In the central hall area, which forms the dividing area between the bedrooms and the rest of the house, there are two spacious linen closets as well as a large clothes closet. The entrance to the cellar also opens off this hallway and the modern bath, large enough to accommodate a combination tub and shower, is located at the end of the hall, between the rear bedroom and the dining room.

Both bedrooms measure 13 feet 4 inches by 11 feet and contain four windows. Each bedroom also has an extra large-sized clothes closet.

San Francisco Described As City Of Gleaming White

A vivid word picture of San Francisco and the Redwoods country are giving in today's travel story written by Mrs. Walter Mantie, Escanaba Daily Press news editor in Rock.

"We were somewhat disappointed in the Golden Gate Bridge but we realize it was only because we had no conception of its size. To us it seemed short and not at all great. But the very fact that it is such a giant of a structure made it seem ordinary. An aviator to whom we were talking later on at Santa Rosa said that you have to see the bridge from the air in order to see the strength and bigness of the whole thing. We can see where he is right. The bridge is so wide—6 lanes and sidewalks on both sides—that it doesn't seem long as a more narrow bridge would. Also the sturdy wall, breast high, on the sides, shuts off the sight of water. We were told that on a clear day Alcatraz could be seen from the bridge, but it was almost sunset when we went through."

We turned to look back across the bay at the city of San Francisco, beautiful in the setting sun. San Francisco had fired our imaginations from the moment we saw it. We had pictured the city dirty and grimy with its Chinatown and slums. We came upon it suddenly. There it was on the hill, gleaming white in the sunlight! We didn't see any other color in the whole city. It was all white. The downtown buildings were of what looked to be white marble, shining clean. San Francisco does justice to the song "America, the Beautiful" with the line in it "alabaster cities gleam."

Music of Frogs
Driving north we began hearing a very familiar sound. It was frogs! They were holding a peppy music session in the ditch. We had not heard any frogs or seen any water in the ditches until we began our journey northward along the coast.

At Asti we stopped to visit a winery located amidst the vineyards in the fertile Santa Clara valley. This proved to be interesting as well as educational. We were shown the making of wines step by step. This winery makes all types of wines including champagne and the sparkling wines. They produce 900 million gallons a year. Here we learned that cream of tartar, much used by cake makers, is a by-product of wine making. This I believe is not a well known fact. It is made of the settlements left at the bottom of the huge wooden storage tanks. During the San Francisco earthquake, which was 80 miles away, some of the storage tanks containing 500,000 gallons cracked and the wine flowed down the Russian River into the Pacific. This winery first started out as a colony co-operative but is now owned by a New York distillery firm. After the tour the guests were invited to sample any or all of the wines.

Here in the Valley of the Moon country William Randolph Hearst built his fabulous castle choosing it as the most perfect place to live. It does seem to have everything one could ask for. They tell us that hunting and fishing is very good and the climate is almost an even temperature the year around. Also this area and the Redwoods have been blessed with incredible beauty. Here the Great Planner must have wanted perfection. Here are the lush fertile valleys with sculptured hills and trees that look as if they had been trimmed. Not a twig out of place. Here are the snow capped mountains and rippling streams that would haunt anybody's memory.

Feeling of Reverence
We took two days to go through the Redwoods although we could have made it in one. We felt an overwhelming peace and reverence in the presence of these majestic monarchs and we left there with regret. The thought occurred to us that if all the schemers and war planners of the world could walk among these giant sentinels of time, maybe they, too, would become more like these trees, straight, true and fine.

The estimated age of the Sequoias (redwood trees) is about four thousand years, height up to 365 feet, circumference up to 106 feet. At the north end of the Redwoods are the Trees of Mystery. These trees have grown in unique positions. This is where the world's largest cathedral tree is. The cathedral tree is seven giant Redwoods grown together at the base, although separated at the tops, forming a natural shrine. We knelt at the shrine and humbly and quietly left the Redwoods. Leaving California going north, the Spanish influence in architecture began to be noticeably missing. Now the homes were just plain American or middle western. Also the farms had barns again. We hadn't seen a barn since

Traveling along the coast we decided we would eat a lot of sea food. We had lobster, shrimp, oysters and fish including fresh Puget Sound salmon. In Oregon they are proud of the salmon. And a mighty fish it is. They will sneer at any other fish with the exception of the trout. Herring, they feel, doesn't even make good bait for the salmon.

At the beginning of our trip we decided that we would take a chance on our breakfast and noon lunch but that our evening meal we would have at an approved eating place. This rule we also applied to the motel cabins. It worked out fine. The cabins were always comfortable, clean and modern with plenty of hot water and towels. One day we saw a sign in front of a restaurant reading, "NOT approved by Duncan Hines". We felt that here was a brave man so we went in. The place was apparently clean and the food was good.

Into Oregon
We left highway 101 at Crescent City to go to Klamath Falls, Oregon. A friend had requested us to visit his sister living there. This took us considerably off of our route but the scenery was worth it. Part of the drive was very high. The clouds were floating over the road and below us. On this trip we saw Oregon's tall timber. A government forest ranger informed us that it was the largest virgin tract of fir in the country. There was also spruce. It was big, tall and clean and beautiful to behold. We felt grateful that these forests had been spared for us and others to see and enjoy. We wished that Michigan still had some of its pine stand-

The weather was beautiful. Not a drop of rain since we left home. We will continue on to Seattle, Spokane and Couer d'Alene, Idaho where we will renew old memories and some old acquaintances.

Take Your Sun In Small Doses

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—A lot of eager beavers trying for a quickie suntan wind up painfully baked, blistered, often headed for the hospital. Begin your sunbathing with small doses. The Public Health Service says that for most folks 15 minutes is long enough for the first sunbath. Each day after that you can add another 15 minutes until you toast yourself the desired tint. But don't forget that even if you are well-tanned you can get severe sunburn.

Watch out for the noonday sun, warns the Health Service. Its rays are short, direct, burning. Late afternoon is safer for sunbathing. Even then, take it easy! You can get burned on cloudy days too. And some of the worst burns come from reflection of sun on sand and water.

The Health Service suggests using a good suntan lotion, oil or cream. "They are all intended to promote a tan and discourage a sunburn, but even the best preparations give only partial protection." The Red Cross points out that burns are classified in three degrees: first, when skin is reddened; second, when blistered; third, when deeper destruction of tissues occur. Chief dangers are shock and infection.

If burn is severe, call a doctor. Keep victims lying down and warm. If mild, use calamine lotion or dusting powder of equal parts zinc oxide, boric acid, talcum. If "moderately bad" use dressings of sterile petrolatum gauze, or gauze soaked in cold white mineral oil. If emergency care is needed tear clean, freshly laundered cloth into strips. Dip into a solution of three table-spoons baking soda, or same amount epsom salts to quart of warm water. Apply to burns, and keep wet.

You can get sunstroke by too long exposure to sun. You can get heatstroke from prolonged oppressive heat, often indoors. Both can be fatal. Both commonly start with a splitting headache. Everyting looks red. You lose consciousness. Your temperature rises dangerously. In extreme cases you collapse suddenly and die within a few minutes. Heat prostration is equally serious. It's caused by prolonged heat and humidity too. But the victim's temperature falls instead of rising. He's cold and clammy.

Cottage cheese is delicious folded into scrambled eggs; garnish with parsley and sprinkle with paprika before serving.

MOTHER OF THE BRIDE — Few mothers live to enjoy their children's Golden Wedding anniversary, so 50-year-old Mrs. Janet Terry, center, is right proud of being the guest of honor at the mid-June Golden Wedding party of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Watt, of Novelty, Ohio.

Keep Wardrobe For Housework

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Dressing for housework with comfort and appearance in mind is just being efficient. It makes housework easier and more fun.

Begin with a girdle which is properly fitted and therefore comfortable. Never wear out your old girdles around the house; it isn't economy; it's ruinous to your figure and brings on fatigue. Be sure your garters permit stretching, bending and stooping with complete comfort. Don't try to get extra mileage out of old stockings full of runners. It isn't fair either to your family or your own self-respect.

Your dresses should be simple, in flattering colors. Stay away from drab, "practical" prints. They should be one-piece, with a wide skirt and a pleated back which allows for movement. Try buying dresses which are teamed with matching aprons, just for fun.

You should have shoes which are meant especially for housework and for no other purpose. Don't wear out your old high-heeled shoes on the job. They'll tire you, ruin your feet and spoil your appearance.

Dorothy Kilgallen Fills Man-Size Job As Lady News Hawk

"If you want a gal who can write a fast-breaking story on any subject along the beat, Dorothy Kilgallen is your man."

With these words, Louis Sobol endorsed the talents and personality of the ace girl reporter who has won the admiration of every hard-boiled male in the newspaper profession. She is one of the best-liked lady news hawks and one of the most talented writers in the game, declares the June Coronet article, DOROTHY KILGALLEN: STAR REPORTER.

When this petite and attractive girl came weaving across the littered floor of the city room on the way to apply for her first job, she was greeted with low long whistles. "As she settled down to the interview, never having written anything more promising than an English theme, the city editor said, as usual: 'And why, Miss Kilgallen, do you want to be a newspaper reporter?'" The Coronet article reports that she replied: "I don't particularly, but some of my friends at college thought it would be exciting."

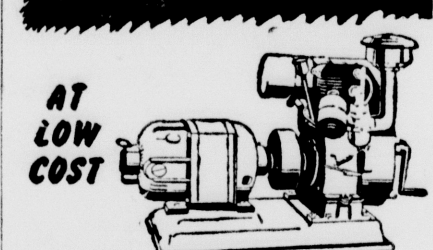

This answer would have undoubtedly put an end to her career if it weren't that Dorothy was the daughter of Jim Kilgallen—dean of New York newspapermen. Today, she turns out six long columns a week for 45 newspapers in the King Features Syndicate, writes features, fiction and chit-chat for many national magazines, and ad libs a 45-minute radio program six days a week.

With the world as her beat and perpetual motion the secret of her whirlwind career, Dorothy Kilgallen has distinguished herself as one of the few newspaper women to hold up in the tough league of Broadway syndicated columnists.

Watch carefully when cooking bacon, remembering that it darkens somewhat after it is removed from the pan. Use low heat so it will cook slowly, and the fat will be creamy white and mild flavored.

Theresa Lessard,
Ellsworth Nault
Married Today

Apple blossoms arranged with the lighted altar candles formed the setting in St. George's church at Bark River this morning for the wedding of Miss Theresa Lessard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alphons Lessard of Bark River, and Ellsworth Nault of Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Nault.

The vows were spoken in a double ring service before Father Neil M. Stehlin who offered the 9 o'clock nuptial high mass. St. George's choir sang the music of the wedding mass.

The bride who was escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage wore a gown of white embroidered organdy, styled with a fitted bodice, Peter Pan collar, long tapering sleeves and a full skirt with a court train. Her veil of bridal illusion, fingertip length, was caught to a coronet of pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white lilies, snapdragons and lilies of the valley.

Bridal Aides

In the bridal party were Miss Betty Lessard and Mrs. Edward Motto who were bridesmaids, Dale Nault, Mr. Nault's best man, and Edward Motto, groomsmen, Mary Ann Nault and Jill Constantineau, flower girls, and Edith LaBelle who carried the rings on a satin pillow. The bride's attendants wore identical gowns of organdy and carried matching bouquets of snapdragons. Miss Lessard was in pale yellow and Mrs. Motto in mist green. The little flower girls wore floor length frocks of pink and they carried miniature colonial bouquets.

Both mothers wore aqua ensembles with white accents and corsages of roses.

A wedding dinner for 50 guests was served at Tom Swift's and a reception for 300 is being held this afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. Centering the decorations in which spring flowers predominate, is the four-tiered wedding cake.

LUDINGTON
BUY-LINES

I LIKE the cartoon of the bridegroom standing in the bathroom surrounded by everything marked "His" and "Hers". He shouts to his wife, "Do we use the same toothpaste?" Which brings us up to HIS, the House for Men, Inc. At Gust Asp's you can find the most complete line of "His" products for Father's Day gifts. The Companion Set includes After-Shave Lotion, Talcum, Soap, Deodorant and Hair Control for $2.50. Boxes containing larger bottles of just "His" Cologne and Talcum are priced from $2.50 up. A handy shaving bowl with a trick cover for traveling is only $1.50. A man likes "His" own way—give it to him with this gift from Asp's.

IT'S a pretty bald statement, but Ward's have mohair than you ever saw! Mohair frieze, that is! I saw so many dayenports and chairs I'd like to own. The new split pillow back, deep fringe bottom. There's a rose beige set at $239.95; Lipstick red, $199.95; Burgundy, as low as $179.75. A new living room set from Ward's and your living room is really all set!

"BOYS and girls, come out to play" was a song I sang as a kid. This is the week—school's over and you'd better put some sturdy play shoes on the youngsters. Peterson's Shoe Store has such an attractive supply of play shoes for girls and women, too. Priced from only $1.98 to $3.98. You'll find the popular wedge sole, wide elastic strap, multi-colored vamp with basic colors of black, brown, blue, green and white. High wedges in colored straw with matching handbags are still so smart and Peterson's have a good variety. Girl's colored tennis shoes take a lot of hard knocks for the younger set. See them all at Peterson's!

MEN hate to be pinned down, but not when it's with a tie pin from Garrard's. The new men's jewelry that has arrived is in the window, and I hope you stop to have a look (more inside, too!). I think the tie clips with clever matching colors would make a perfect Father's Day Gift. Give the engineer a square and compass; the plumber, a wrench and pliers; shears and a trowel for the gardener; saw and hammer for the carpenter (even if he's an amateur!) Jeweled tie chains and cuff links also get the nod. It's a smart mama that gifts that jewel of a papa with something from Garrard Jewelers!

YOU'LL crow with delight over the tiny rooster, banty hen and little chicks I discovered at Eden's Gift Shop this week. A new arrival of wee animals for collectors of miniatures is really "dear" and you'd be a "monkey" not to see them. Winging their way into your heart are heavenly little wooden angels from Italy; china ones from Bavaria.

IT'S sort of automatic, turning into the Photo Art Shop to see what's new. This week I found a new automatic server that you'll like, girls. Four small leaf-shaped dishes are fastened together. Gold, silver or pearl covers (your choice) all open with a push from the pretty glass handle at the center of the leaf cluster. I saw lots of good ideas for Father's Day gifts in the shop, too!

Trans-Canada Highway To Be Opened In 1957

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Trans-Canada Highway, dream of decades in the Dominion, will be a busy, practical "northwest passage" for motorists by 1957 if current Canadian federal and provincial plans work out.

The coast-to-coast highway in Canada has been a limited reality since 1944. In that year, the 153-mile link connecting Hearst and Geraldton across the swampy wilds of eastern Ontario was completed under wartime priorities, notes the National Geographic Society. It thereupon became possible to drive some 4,200 miles through eight provinces from Halifax, Nova Scotia, to Victoria, British Columbia.

Today, however, parts of the route are more of an ordeal than a pleasure. Little more than half is hard-surfaced, and some of that is in poor shape. Extensive building and some re-routing is needed to bring the highway to the point of national usefulness.

Seven-Year Plan
As a result, the government has offered the provinces a seven-year construction plan for a Trans-Canada Highway worthy of the name. It calls for a 5,100-mile road traversing all ten Canadian provinces from St. John's on the coast of Newfoundland, to Victoria on Vancouver Island.

When completed, the highway is to be all hard-surfaced, two or more lanes in width, with gentle grades and wide shoulders. The provinces are asked to pay half of the estimated $300,000,000 cost, and to take over ownership and future maintenance.

The five provinces, Ontario and westward, accounting for three-fifths of the length, signed up for the government plan at Ottawa in April, as did the smallest province, Prince Edward Island. The other four eastern provinces which did not come in immediately are reported in sympathy with the project.

The highway lies within the narrow southern band of Canada's population concentration, rarely wandering as much as 100 miles north of the U. S. boundary line. In traversing the Big Bend of the Columbia River in British Columbia it reaches its northern limit, 215 air miles north of Washington State. It dips to a point 40 miles farther south than Minneapolis at Peterborough, across Lake Ontario from Rochester, New York.

Ontario Is Keystone
Ferries span the water gaps from Newfoundland to Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island in the east, and from Vancouver to Vancouver Island in the west. The loftiest climb is over the Rockies at mile-high Kicking Horse Pass. River scenery along the St. Lawrence in Quebec and the St. John in New Brunswick will vie for tourist preference with that provided by the rugged Canadian Rockies.

Ontario, where Hudson Bay squeezes Canada down to its narrowest, is the keystone province of the Trans-Canada Highway project. It will contain a full one-fourth of the length, the route crossing the province's east-west span of nearly 1,000 miles.

The most extensive changes in the route are called for in the Ontario agreement. Abandoning the northern swing through North Bay, Kapuskasing, Hearst, and Geraldton, so recently completed, Ontario will build its road much closer to Great Lakes shores. Running from Ottawa southwest to Peterborough and Lindsay, the course touches Georgian Bay at Parry Sound.

Skirting the Sudbury copper and nickel diggings, it will strike out on a northwest tack, still unsurveyed, paralleling the Lake Superior shore. From Nipigon westward through Port Arthur, Dryden, and Kenora, it will follow the present Trans-Canada Highway route.

Fort Ticonderoga Capture Recalled In Exhibit At U-M

ANN ARBOR—The year 1950 marks the 175th anniversary of the stirring events of 1775, the first year of the American Revolution. In May the anniversary of one of the early American victories, the capture of Fort Ticonderoga, was observed.

The story of the fall of Ticonderoga to a raiding party of less than 100 Americans is being told this month in an exhibit in the Clements Library of the University of Michigan. A dramatic account of the capture was also broadcast over the University radio station WUOM on May 11.

The exhibit includes letters written by British and American participants in the battle. These letters are part of the great collection of original documents pertaining to the American Revolution which are owned by the Clements Library.

WILL IT BE A BEST-SELLER? Fashion editors representing newspapers, news services and magazines judiciously study a new spring dress.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

A large proportion of the nation's four billion dollar fashion business is transacted in a crowded area of four blocks on Seventh Avenue, New York. Here, in wholesale showrooms far above the congested street, manufacturers show their new designs to press and buyers months before the garments appear in retail stores. These fashion previews usually are strictly business, with none of the elaborate party trimmings of the luncheon and cocktail showings given later in the season. Editors and buyers attending these advance showings select the styles they believe most women will wear in the coming season. Here are scenes from a typical preview, photographed in the showrooms of Adele Simpson, wholesale designer.

Month Of June
Brings Memories
Of Boyhood Days

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP)—This is the month which there is nothing grayer than a day in.

Good old June is back. So soon again? What are the months doing now—riding on horseback? The year turns faster than a merry-go-round.

Time is doing a jig instead of a waltz. The universe is exceeding the speed limit. Why, if a man isn't careful, he'll find he's run out of June, used up his ration, before he knows it.

School Lets Out

Wherefore let every man pause and remember June. For June won't come on forever, and no season lasts, and isn't it wonderful to see the girls again in their summer dresses? They put the tulips to shame.

June is the heyday of boyhood, as the poet said. Remember? School lets out at last, and running from the building whooped back in alto bravado: "No more pencils, no more books! No more teacher's sassy looks!" And the teacher smiled from the window, comfortably happy in the knowledge that for three months she didn't have to drum the multiplication table into the squirming minds of other people's runny-nosed children.

June never really ended quite why mother sighed when you came home. It was no vacation for her. Then came the thrill of putting away your shoes for the summer, the ecstasy of going barefoot again—the sting of hot pavement on tender soles, the delicious delight of squirting the warm dust of dirt roads between your toes.

Pranks Routine

There was always the visit to your cousins in the country and the cruel jokes they played on you because you lived in the city.

They'd have you milk the cow from the wrong side, so she'd kick or butt at you. Or at night they'd take you on a snipe hunt, leaving you standing for hours alone, holding an empty gunny sack behind a lighted candle and waiting for the mythical birds to flit across the light and into the bag.

Remember the lonesome walk back to the house through the scary darkness, knowing you'd been tricked again? And somehow there just weren't any city tricks you could play on them.

I suppose these timeless pranks are being played on city boys right now in a thousand rural communities across America. But they don't ruin June. Nothing can ruin June for a boy. It's his hike to be free—free to swim and hike and run through the woods like a deer out of prison.

Case Not Desperate

Somehow June isn't quite so wonderful when you grow up, is it? There are no summer vacations in the school of experience, and you can't play hooky just because June rolls around. It kind of embarrasses you—like meeting an old sweetheart.

Grownups chiefly use June as a month to marry in. But there's a limit to that, too. A man can't go barefoot or go marrying each June, as no wife would put up with that kind of nonsense, year after year.

But, all in all, a middle-aged man can still get some pleasure out of the month. His case isn't exactly desperate.

He can still enjoy the sunsets, he can look at the girls in their summer dresses, he can walk through the fields and hear the crickets and watch a bee interview a clover. . . . And be homesick for the June of his childhood, when his heart spilled over with the pure wonder of being alive.

Improvements At School VotedNew Lights For Gym
Most Important

Installation of an improved lighting system for the Manistique high school gymnasium is one of the major items listed among contemplated improvements of local school buildings, Supt. A. F. Hall announces.

When the relighting program is completed the illumination over the gymnasium floor will be three times as bright as at present, Mr. Hall says. Bids for this improvement must be in by four o'clock June 19.

Also planned for the summer will be the complete redecoration of the interior of Lincoln school and considerable redecoration at the Lakeside school, along with a new door at the main entrance of the latter school.

These improvements have already been sanctioned by the board. Still awaiting board approval is the re-roofing of the senior high school building and the gymnasium building.

Lions Plant Many Trees On Project
Near Thompson

Members of the Manistique Lions Club held a tree planting bee at the club's forty south of Thompson last Tuesday evening with the result that about 8,000 pine seedlings were planted.

It is estimated that about twenty thousand norway pine trees have been planted in this tract of land since it was acquired two years ago and the trees have thrived so well that very little replanning has been found necessary. A large sign erected at the approach of the project bears the legend: "Trees Forever, Manistique Lions Club Reforestation Project."

Following the planting activities Tuesday evening, the members met for luncheon and business at Denny's Restaurant.

Rejuvenated Escanaba Entertains Manistique

A rejuvenated Escanaba Bears team—but still pretty much of a batting question mark—will take the field at city diamond Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in an effort to overcome the second place Manistique outfit.

Lack of hitting power so far has hampered the Bears and a practice game this week was no consolation as the "regulars" got only two hits off Russ Hiltonen, young Copper Country hurler, who has pitched in class A ball in Detroit.

Hiltonen is looked upon as a good prospect to strengthen the Bears' pitching. In addition to his pitching, he appears to be a better than average hitter and his talents in that department can be used to good advantage.

Other newcomers added to the team this week are the Meyers brothers of Port Huron, Dean Bailey and Bill Gustafson of Houghton, and Jack Schwalbach, Jack Schils and Dick Lough, Escanaba athletes who have been attending college.

John Schwalbach, Escanaba coach, said Joe Rademacher would start against Manistique. No word has been heard from the Schoolcrafters but it is likely Norman Jahn will be the starting pitcher.

Chatham Nine Plays Sunday At Gladstone

ALL-STAR—The Chatham All-Stars meets Gladstone Sunday at 2:30 in a Rainbow league tilt at the bay shore diamond.

Chatham has two wins and one defeat this season while the Redskins have lost two and won one. The visitors lost their opener to Trenary but since have defeated Groos and Escanaba. Gladstone lost its first two games before beating Groos last weekend.

Gladstone's pitching choice will be Pete DeMenter, Mel Rothschild or Alden Haglund. Jim Kennedy or Larry LaPlante will catch.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
ARDMORE, Pa. — (AP) — Jimmy Dykes, Athletics' field commander, was taking a day off between night ball games to watch some golf when a friend from California began needling him. "We sure miss him at that golf club," the pal explained to assorted listeners. "Jimmy always was a golfer, we used to line up to see who'd get to play him next." Dykes refused to be put out. "Yeah," he assented. "I never had to line up to a match in advance. I'd just go out there and they'd tell me, 'you're playing with these three guys today.'"

He'd Chew To Run
Carl Snaveley, North Carolina football coach, was talking to a boys club the other night when he remarked "I don't know what makes a great athlete—do you?" . . . And a kid in the back of the room piped up: "Yeah, eat—(name of cereal dealer)."

Cleaning The Cuff
Dave Sisler, kid brother of the Phillies' Dick and son of the even more celebrated George Sisler, compiled an 0.37 earned run average pitching for the Princeton freshmen this spring. . . . He also had a "straight one" scholastic average, which is the best you can get there. . . . Southern baseball fans tab Norfolk's George Prigge, a Brooklyn boy, as the guy who'll be playing shortstop for the Yankees in three or four years. . . . Seems he has a few good shortstops ahead of him in the Yankee chain.

Red Sox, Laundry Lead Softball Loops

Harnischfeger Red Sox and the Escanaba Steam Laundry, with 5 wins and no losses, lead their respective softball leagues after another week of action.

In the American circuit the Liberty Loans are moving up fast while in the National look St. Thomas, Upper Michigan Power & Light, and Clairmont Transfer are strong contenders for the championship with Harnischfeger Nationals also making a determined bid for honors.

Headline attraction of next week's program is the game between the Harnischfeger Red Sox and the Liberty Loans who are now "hitting on all nine." This promises to be a "knock down and drag out" affair. The game is scheduled for Thursday night at 8:45 at Memorial Field.

Complete league schedule for next week follows:
Monday—Harnischfeger Nationals vs Escanaba Township, at Memorial Field at 7:15; Hughes Motors vs White Birch, at Memorial Field at 8:45; Harnischfeger Red Sox vs NuWay Cleaners, at Joyce Park.

Spilling The Dope

By Charlie Larson

This isn't a sports item. But it is Ollie Thatcher philosophy—and that's always good for a paragraph.

It was raining pitchforks and shovel handles yesterday. The natural remark was: "Isn't this horrible weather?"

Saith Ollie, without hesitation: "Oh, I don't know. There's no dust flying around and the sun won't get in your eyes while you're driving!"

Which reminds us of the optimist who was falling out of a 12 story building. As he passed the sixth floor, he said: "Everything's all right so far!"

In the morning mail comes a card from one William McCormick, 356 Hattie St., Marinette, Wis.

Writes McCormick: "We are looking for home and home games with softball teams in your area. Any teams interested should contact me."

McCormick says nothing about his team, what it is, what class it's in or anything.

Your guess is as good as ours. But if you want a softball "blind date," here's your chance.

Add to the list of Upper Peninsula boys who have won athletic letters in college the names of Bruno Maule of Hermansville, Francis Revord of Iron Mountain and Bob Mikulich of Traunvik. Maule and Revord won their letters at Ferris institute, where our own Frank Karas coached the team. Ferris won three games and lost four.

Mikulich won a track manager's minor award at Michigan State college.

Incidentally, Bob Carey of Charlevoix, sensational sophomore athlete, also won his track letter at MSC. That is his third of the year, having already won letters in football and basketball.

Lippy Can Tell His Foes 'I Told You So'

(By The Associated Press)

Now Leo Durocher can say "I told you so." With "my kind of team," Leo is turning the dope topsy turvy in the National league.

The New York Giants drew nothing but boos and catcalls in April and May. In June, they're the darlings of Broadway. Since Leo's gang moved west, they've been red hot.

With seven straight wins and eight out of nine on their second western tour, the Giants lifted themselves by their bootstraps from seventh to fifth place.

Only one game under .500 and just 5½ behind the leaders, the Giants command new respect in the pennant race. Currently they can't do anything wrong.

The ninth inning is their specialty. In nine games they scored 64 runs, 17 of them in the ninth. Coming from behind to snatch a win is becoming a habit.

Turned out they didn't need

Leo Durocher

yesterday's five-run explosion in the ninth at Chicago but it nailed down a 9-3 decision. The result came in the Giants' past the Cubs into fifth place.

Stanky Gets Four

Eddie Stanky, Giants' sparkplug, slugged Johnny Schmitz and Frank Hiller for four singles, a perfect day. Wes Westrum chipped in two homers, helping Larry Jansen home with an eight-hit victory, his fourth.

Despite the commotion to the rear, Brooklyn and St. Louis continued to match steps in a first-place tie. The Dodgers squeaked past Pittsburgh, 9-7, in the afternoon but St. Louis came right back to take an 8-5 night verdict over Boston.

Manager Burt Shotton called in Don Newcombe, his ace, when the Pirates staged a threat in the ninth. Big Don made Danny Murtaugh hit into a game-ending double play. Roy Campanella's two-run homer in the eighth and Pee Wee Reese's homer in the ninth led the Brooks home safe.

Home runs weren't enough for the Boston club at St. Louis. Two by Walker Cooper and one each by Earl Fargeson and Sam Jethroe, all off winner Max Lanier, fell short of victory. Three balks by loser Bob Hall of the Braves were costly.

The Philadelphia at Cincinnati game was rained out. Detroit salvaged the last game of three at New York, crushing the Yankees, 13-7, in a game marred by an injury to the Yanks' Bob Porterfield.

It's Broom's Day
The Boston Red Sox ran true to form, following a record-breaking 20-run day Thursday by losing to the last place St. Louis Browns, 12-7.

Even so, the Sox tied a record and broke another. Homers by Ted Williams (his 17th) and Bobby Doerr matched an old New York Yankee mark of 15 homers in four games. The seven-run total made it 56 in three games, four more than the old high.

Ned Garver, who pitched the first seven innings and hit a home run, was credited with the first victory for St. Louis over Boston this season. A grand slam homer by Don Lenhardt in the sixth helped Garver.

Sam Zoldak pulled a "Joe Page" with a fine relief job to protect Cleveland's 8-7 edge over Washington. Zoldak, fourth Indian pitcher, needed only two pitches to stop a Washington rally and give Bobby Feller his fifth win. Chico Carrasquel scored an unearned run off Bob Hooper in the eighth inning for Chicago's 3-2 edge over the Philadelphia A's.

Menard To Hurl For Bark River

Ray (Minnie) Menard, Escanaba athlete, will be seeking his fourth win of the season Sunday when he takes the mound at Bark River against Foster City.

Menard, product of the American Legion junior team in years past, has lost only to Stephenson. The game is scheduled to start at 2:30.

Bark River will play the Bears at Escanaba Wednesday evening.

Triple Header Here On Sunday

Three Softball Tilts At Memorial Field

An unofficial replay of last year's Upper Peninsula class A finals will be the feature of Sunday night's softball tripleheader at Memorial Field. Two girls' teams, the Negaunee All-Stars and the local Delta Hardwares, meet in the opener at 6 o'clock with Escanaba Steam Laundry facing Big R Cafe of Powers in the second game at 7:15.

In the finale at 8:45 o'clock the Liberty Loans of this city, class A runnerup, will meet the Negaunee CIO (last year's Negaunee VFW), which won the Upper Peninsula title at Ishpeming in 1949.

The Negaunee All-Stars won the Upper Peninsula women's championship at Iron River, defeating the Escanaba Delta Hardwares, Kingsford, and Bruce Crossing. The Hardwares also are city champs.

Big R Cafe of Powers reached their peak last year in the U. P. semi-finals in which they defeated Negaunee, 3 to 2, in 17 innings, longest tournament game on record. Bobby Corrievae, who pitched the entire game, also hurled the Big R's to the championship against a good Ironwood team.

Beside Corrievae, Powers will use Hans Fazer, Joe Scheski, Edsel Poquette, Irving Hafeman, Bob Kass, Bruce Andrews, Don Shannon, Bill Dault, Leso Pierpont, Reno Rochester, Charlie Behrend, Jack Dault, C. Peterson, Bob Tricket and Bob Smith.

The Liberty Loans will be at top strength for the windup against Negaunee. Dale Wood, home from college, will catch and Gerald Eis or Louie Kositzky will pitch. Bobby Anderson will be first base, Franny Pryal at second, Tom Dufour at short, Ed Gauthier at third, Joe Winters in left field, Barney Millette or Mark Valind in center, and Kippy Derouin in right.

The Negaunee Champs will use Myron Johns or Allen Wakkuril, pitchers with Paul Ellis receiving. Leonard Benson will be at first base, Jack Clark at second, Bobby Holman at short, Bobby Nichols at third base. Clean-up, Clyde Roberts in left field, Shorty Holman or "Ruddy" Rudness in center, and Dick Pellow in right.

The two girls' teams will meet in a game earlier Sunday at 2:30 at Memorial field.

Before the afternoon game, managers of teams in the Escanaba women's softball league will meet. Teams entered in the league are Delta Hardwares, Teen Angels, St. Joe Boosters, 4-H Service, Danforth 4-H, Home Ees and Wells CYO.

Pat Frasher is in charge of scheduling for the recreation department.

NEAT — Nancy Chaffe flies to England for the London Championships at the Queens Club, June 19-25, and the Wimbledon Championships, June 26-July 8. The Ventura, Calif., miss won the Women's National Indoor Singles in March.

17 Racing Horses, Barn Watchman Die In Blaze

CHICAGO—A watchman perished and between 17 and 22 racing horses burned to death last night in a fire which destroyed the huge barn on the Emil Denmark farm near suburban Hinsdale.

Denmark estimated the loss at $700,000.

Among horses that died in the fire was Curtice, which last year won the $57,850 Futurity at Washington Park race track.

Lightning struck the roof of the barn during a severe electrical storm, setting fire to 200 tons of hay in the loft.

Denmark said he recently refused an offer of $100,000 for Curtice.

John Cooney, 38, a watchman who lived in the barn, said the flames spread rapidly and dense clouds of smoke soon were billowing from the 320-foot long, 40-stall wooden structure.

Cooney said he and Frank Nemecek, 48, the watchman who perished in the flames, attempted to rescue some of the frightened animals but were driven back by the intense heat.

He said Nemecek apparently was overcome by smoke and died inside the barn.

Another horse that perished was Raphael II, which was bred in France and brought to Chicago in 1942. Raphael was the sire of Enforcer, one of Denmark's leading racers. Other racers burned to death included Red Mood, Margaret Blen Replay, Bog Fair, Tre Vit and Silver Pony.

Football Fund To Be Swelled

Lions Of Rapid River Plan Bean Planting

RAPID RIVER—In a project designed to bolster the fund to finance the purchase of football equipment for a Rapid River high school team, the Lions club of Rapid River will plant a half acre of beans on Monday evening.

The planting is to be at the Charles Hamilton farm, a half mile from Rapid River. Members of the club and youths interested in helping are being requested to report at the farm about 7 o'clock Monday evening.

The seed is being furnished by the Coleman Canning Co., city, who have contracted to purchase the crop when it is harvested during the summer months.

Tigers Win, 13-7; Face Hot Boston

Sinker Failed To Sink; Hit Porterfield

NEW YORK — (AP) — Paul Calvert threw a sinker. It didn't sink. Bob Porterfield crumpled in the dust at Yankee stadium.

Long after New York teammates carried Porterfield away on a stretcher yesterday, Calvert, a lean, somber gent with glasses was dressing slowly.

"It was a sinker that didn't sink," he said in a low voice. He knew that Porterfield, still unconscious, was in a hospital.

"Usually when a ball gets away from me, I know it," he said. "Not this time. It just started high inside and stayed there. I never had a chance to yell 'look out.' It sort of slipped out of my hand."

"It wasn't a fast ball. I don't throw too fast, anyhow. But this was only half speed. I sure hope he's going to be all right."

Aaron Robinson, Tiger catcher, said:

"He Just Froze"

"I saw it coming from the time it left Calvert's hand. I hollered at him but he just froze. Stood there and watched it. The ball hit him up here on the left cheekbone and then bounced off his neck."

The Yankee clubhouse was silent. Players sat around waiting word from the hospital.

They talked of the tough luck that haunted "the kid" since he moved up from Newark in August of 1948. How he fractured a finger in his first game at Cleveland. How a torn muscle in his right arm kept him commuting between New York and Newark all last summer.

All spring he had been a question mark, worrying about his arm and half expecting a ticket to Kansas City. And now the fractured jaw and a concussion, a few days after he bought a home at Belleville, N. J.

Word finally arrived in the clubhouse that Bob regained consciousness after a 45-minute blackout. His condition was listed as "good" at Lenox Hill hospital. Maybe Bob Porterfield's luck finally is going to change. It's about time.

Stahl Gets Dye's Job At Ohio State

COLUMBUS, O. — (AP) — Floyd Stahl, Ohio State university's assistant director of athletics, today was named head basketball coach.

He succeeds William (Tippy) Dye, who was lured to the University of Washington last week by a $9,000 salary, a five-year contract and other inducements.

Stahl, 38, is no newcomer to cage warfare. In his high school coaching days he piloted Rayton, O. Silvers to the Ohio class B championship in 1923, 1929 and 1930.

Stahl moved to the Buckeye campus in 1930 as assistant basketball coach under Harold Olsen.

In 1938 he shifted to Harvard as head baseball coach, became assistant basketball mentor in 1939, and then took over as head basketball coach for 1944-45-46.

He returned to Ohio State in 1947.

Thompson and Dillingham were first-string pitcher and catcher respectively on the 1887-1890 teams of Madison university, as Colgate then was known.

No athletic awards were given at that time.

The Daily Press team lost to Birds Eye, 13 to 7.

Vets Reign At Open

BULLETIN

ARDMORE, Pa. — (AP) — Lloyd Mangrum, 1946 champion from Niles, Ill., carved a sub-par 37-32—69 over the Merion golf club today to take an early third round lead in the National open golf championship with 211.

ARDMORE, Pa. — (AP) — The golden anniversary United States open golf championship lost its story book complexion today and settled down to a fight among a bunch of old mercenaries for the greatest prize of them all.

In the van going into the decisive 36 holes was a long, easy-going fellow from Arkansas, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, who has been busy collecting money on the tournament trail for more than 10 years but who never has won a major crown.

"I expect I can hold up as well as the next one," drawled the wartime army sergeant as he discussed prospects of protecting the sub-par 139 that set the halftime pace. Par is 36-34—70.

"I believe a couple of 71's would win for me and I might be able to do it. I'm playing pretty good."

As he strides down Merion's fairways with that loose, lazy stride of his, the 40-year old campaigner is apt to be looking over his shoulder at three other and a little man named Ben Hogan.

"Boy Wonder" Fades

Harrison, who hails from Little Rock, Ark., but who now represents St. Andrews, Ill., was the only man to crack Merion's tenacious par for two days' struggle with the 6,694-yard sand-speckled east layout.

Par took a terrific licking here and there but the gents who whipped it one day came back groggy and couldn't do it the next.

The course's most significant triumph was over Alabama's one-day wonder, Lee Mackey, Jr., who eked to an 81 after fashioning that record-breaking first day 64.

The 26-year-old Birmingham unknown, who came to the tournament looking for a pro job, got an excellent view of Merion's thick, matted rough and harassing sand in using 17 additional strokes his second time around.

Three professionals were even with par at 140 as the field, reduced from 165 to 52, moved into the showdown.

Hogan Has 141

They were Johnny Bulla of Verona, Pa., who blazed a second round 66, Jim Ferrier, with 71-69, and Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N. C., a pro of less than a year, added a 72 yesterday to a previous 68.

Hot on the heels of all of them came the most feared and respected man in present-day golf, bantam Ben Hogan, with 72-69—141.

Sam Snead suffered a misery he has come to expect in the open championships. He blew himself out of contention with a sad 73-75-148, the result of an ice-cold putting stick.

Also in there just swindling for exercise now is Jimmy Demaret, the Masters champion, who folded with 72-77-149.

Defending Champion Carv Midlecoff, a renowned fast finisher, still loomed as a threat with 71-71-142, which tied him with five other pros.

Two amateurs were left—Frank Stranahan, British amateur kink, with 149, and Jim McHale of Philadelphia with 148.

Chucky Gene Sarazen is challenging with a pair of fine 72's.

State Teams Are Defeated

Badger And Ohio U. Reach Finals

EAST LANSING — (AP) — The University of Wisconsin and Ohio University meet today for the right to represent district 4 in the NCAA baseball finals next week at Omaha.

Each came up with a regional semifinal victory yesterday, the Badgers trouncing Michigan State, 13-6, and Ohio tripping Western Michigan, 4-2.

The defeats put both Michigan schools out of the running.

Wisconsin, co-champion of the Big Ten, pounded 16 hits off three State pitchers for an easy victory.

The Badgers had a 9-6 lead when they came to bat in the seventh and pushed across four runs from three singles, an error and Bob Shea's homer after two were out.

MSC's best effort came in the second when a single, pitcher Lou Bloch's homer and Joe Becard's home run added up to three scores.

Ohio University—which finished second in the Mid-American conference, ousted the champ by defeating western Michigan.

Mickey Briglia's double in the eighth inning gave Ohio its two-run victory margin. Two men were on base at the time.

Line scores:

W. Mich. . . . 100 100 000—2 8 1

Ohio Univ. . . . 002 000 02x—4 6 2

Ruark Muses About Words

You Have To Be Hep These Days

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—I got news for you, Sweetie, a certain argot is current in the cafes among the New York-Miami-Hollywood set, and it couldn't be more divine. This spoken shorthand, consisting of a set flock of phrases and a limited number of clichés, already has crossed the big waters, to such extent that I was recently greeted in Australia as "Sweetie" and "Baby" by people who used to call you "Cobber" and "Mate."

This Sweetie, Darling, Dear, Baby and Honey routine—anything that isn't a routine today is an operation—has nothing to do with endearment. For awhile, in the huckster set, it was even fashionable for men of unquestioned masculinity to call each other "Honey," generally along sarcastic lines. Women who hate each other, strangers speaking to telephone operators, and all Broadway-Hollywood characters address everybody from busboys to Bernie Baruch in the above saccharines, possibly because they cannot remember names.

Few Adjectives
Very few adjectives are in vogue today. Anything that is not dreamy is sensational or divine. It is a dreamy dress or a sensational speech or it couldn't have been dreamier or it couldn't have been more divine or less divine, and this applies as easily to the weather as to a fist fight in a gymnasium. "The couldn't-have-been-more-or-less" operation, is a hangover from the war. We seem to have borrowed it from the British, who couldn't be less flexible in their speech.

Amusement, amazement and disbelief today are expressed simply. The person merely throws up his hands and says "Oh, No!" I pulled a house count on a gal the other night and she said "Oh, No!" in anguished tones 18 times in half-an-hour. For relief she said "This is the complete end," in a mild shriek, and "that's all, Sweetie," or "Darling" or "Dear" or "Baby."

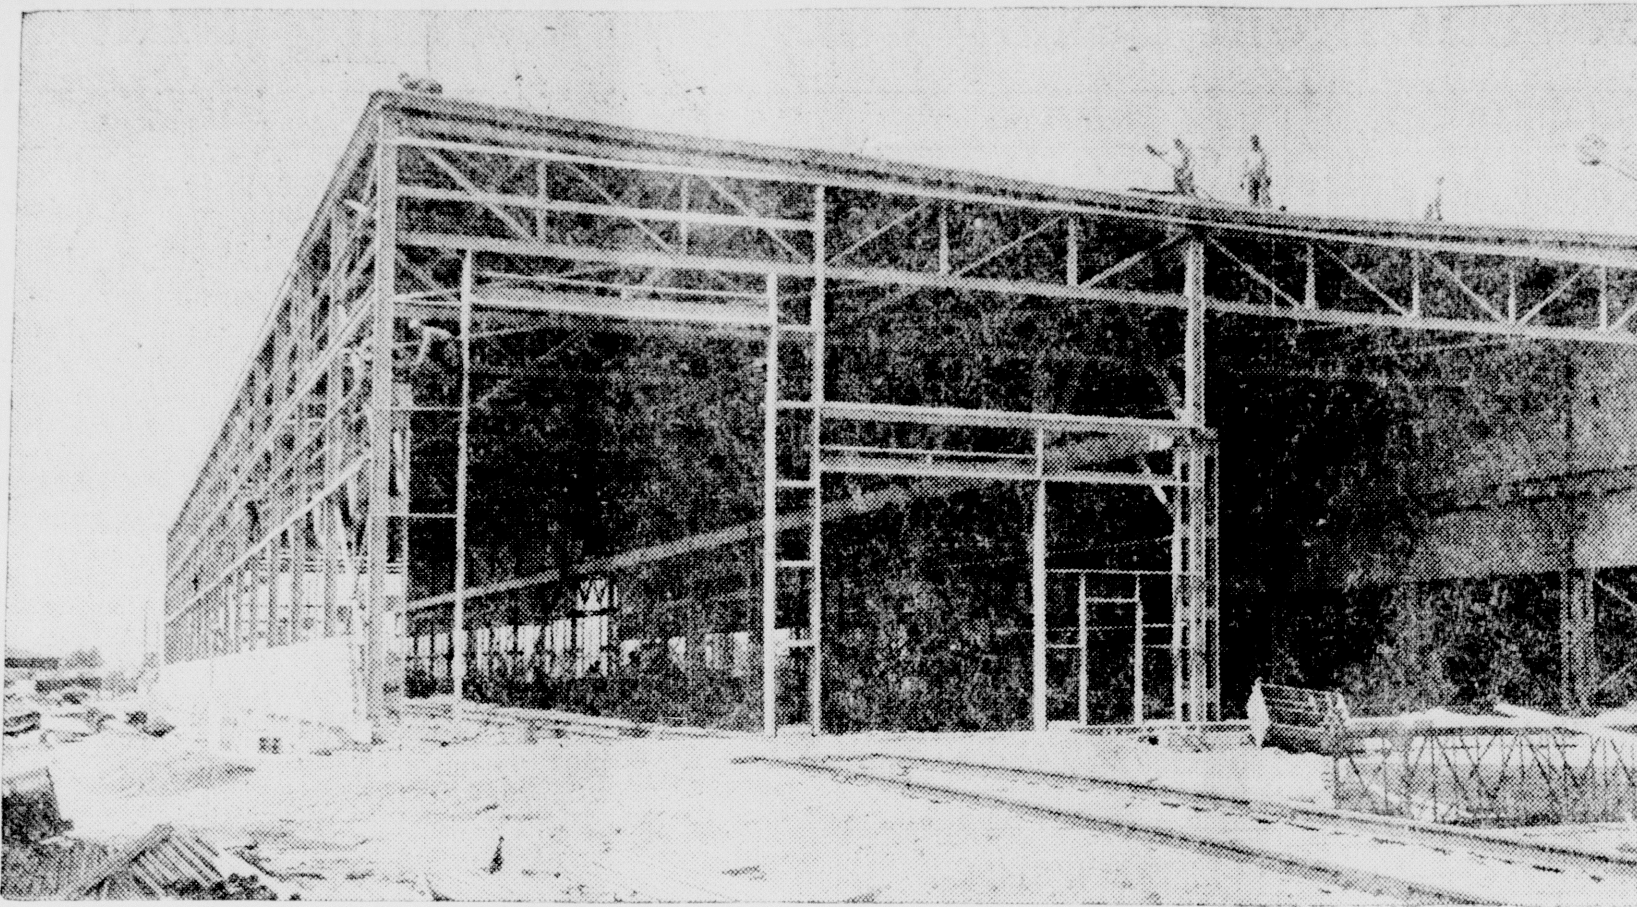

People start few sentences today without the preamble of "Tell you what I'm gonna do," which is the old carnival pitchman's phrase, or "I've got news for you," or a cute little gambit such as "Whatever became of so-and-so?" If the topic, say, is the state department, somebody chirps: "Whatever became of Sumner Welles?" And the house falls dead.

You notice I said "falls dead." This means everybody is amused. It is not to be confused with the more elderly use of death, which was a state people asked you to drop into a couple of years back. A command to drop dead or get lost now stamps you as unhep—or, as the latter saying goes, "Not with it." To be unwith it is to be a corny, baby, or Sweetie, or Darling or Dear.

"Loaded" Is Abused
I have noticed that the people who talk a lot are "always on," and if they are being knifed behind their backs, they are "never off." They are generally regarded as being loaded with no talent, and you can say that again, Honey. Loaded is another all-purpose word. A drunk is loaded. A rich man is loaded. A guy full of information is loaded. In describing, with some admiration, the actions of a drunk, the verb comes first. "Was she loaded last night?" The phrase goes, and no question is implied. To be loaded, but with actually no talent, means that a person couldn't be less divine.

I fall dead, but dead, for this new shorthand in speech, since it demands no thought. I mean I think it's sensational, or, if talking to people so intimate I do not call them Sweetie, I think it couldn't be more sensash. I have not said "natch" for three whole years, nor "wha' happen?" and I simply adore the idea of using "contact" as a verb. I couldn't be dreamier, except it makes my skin crawl.

It's sheer heaven to be able to refer to "South Pacific," the musical, merely as "S. P." and know that you'll be understood, and I think that "Hollywooded" as a

GOING UP—The construction of the addition to the Harnischfeger truck crane plant west of the U. P. State Fairgrounds is proceeding on schedule. The contracting firm is the Austin company, nationally known industrial construction company. The plant is being doubled in size to accommodate expansion of the company's manufacturing operations. Erling Arntzen, of Escanaba has the sub-contract for the masonry work on the project.

synonym for pregnancy couldn't be dreamier. But I got news for you, I'm running out of space so I'll tell you what I'm gonna do. I'm gonna go off and brood over the English language.

Whatever became of Noah Webster? He couldn't have been more divine, Sweetie. Even if he is obsolete.

Tariff Cuts On Paper Feared

Threat To American Industry Opposed

Concerned with the potential harm that may befall the domestic pulp and paper industry, the American Paper and Pulp association has announced its strong opposition to further reduction in duty on paper commodities imported into this country. Reductions in duty are to be considered in another international conference to be held at Torquay, England, in September.

The Escanaba Paper company and the Manistique Pulp and Paper company are members of the American Pulp and Paper association.

In addition to filing a brief before the committee for reciprocity information, and because of the great potential significance, the paper and pulp industry is presenting its case through personal representation.

In a statement, Mr. E. W. Tinker, executive secretary of the association, points out that the primary purpose of such lower tariffs, namely to benefit the European countries, would not be fulfilled. Rather, such action would almost wholly benefit the Canadian manufacturers who already receive yearly a half billion dollars in revenue from the United States for paper and paper products imported from Canada into this country, he said. Ironically enough, the Canadian Government presently maintains a prohibitive tariff against paper made in the United States. Mr. Tinker points out that true reciprocity works both ways, that free trade means free trade in both directions and should not be, as it now is, a one-way street.

Citing a not-too-distant historical fact, Mr. Tinker notes that because of tariff reductions on newsprint in 1913, the domestic newsprint industry moved to Canada, leaving many ghost towns in the United States. He concludes that similar migrations of United States industry could be repeated if other paper commodities were to be placed on the free list. This possibility looms as a likely eventuality by virtue of Canada's lower labor costs and the recent devaluation of the Canadian dollar.

Present labor and wood costs make the Canadian costs of production at least 10 per cent less than those in the United States, Tinker reported.

The American paper and pulp industry is concerned with tariff change proposals because of the industry's tremendous investment
